Baltimore Girl Killed In Florida Kidnaping

Taken From Home of Her Grandparents

Daughter of Attorney Savagely Beaten in Early Morning Attack

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Judith Ann Roberts, 7-year-old daughter of a Baltimore attorney, was kidnapped from the home of her grandparents today and brutally murdered.

Police found the nude and savagely battered body of the little girl in a wooded area just off fashionable Bayshore Drive on the shore of Biscayne Bay.

Reported Missing

She had been reported missing some five hours before by her mother, Mrs. Shirley Roberts. She disappeared from the home of Mrs. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg.

The child's absence was discovered at 1:10 a.m., when Mrs. Rosenberg was awakened by the sound of a car roaring away from her home. Police on a routine patrol found the car at 5:20 a.m.

A score of officers fanned out from the abandoned car and one of them found Judith Ann's body at 6:15 a.m. in a clump of bushes a block from where the car was discovered.

She had been beaten on the head, apparently with a heavy instrument. Her body was caked with blood and dirt, indicating she had put up a fight for her life.

Had Been Strangled

A piece of gauze was twisted about her throat and police said it appeared the material had been used to strangle her.

Homicide Detectives I. J. Whitman and Charles Sapp said there was no indication that an attempt had been made to collect ransom. Mrs. Roberts said she and her husband, James, were in moderate circumstances and not a likely target for a ransom kidnaping.

Mrs. Roberts said her husband was defeated recently in a campaign for a seat in the Maryland House of Delegates. She said she had considered but discarded the thought that the crime might have been committed by a political enemy.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation had ordered a statewide search for the kidnaper before the body was found.

Roberts was not at home when the child's disappearance was discovered. The family came to Miami after his defeat in the Maryland Democratic primary June 28. Mrs. Roberts said they had been in the habit of visiting BREAKS DOWN AT INQUEST. Mrs. Marion Thorne is comforted by her attorney, Joseph Gallo, as she breaks into tears during questioning at the inquest into the mysterious death of her son, Montgomery Ward Thorne, 20. Thorne, heir to a mail order fortune, was found dead in his apartment. A coroner's physician said that the stomach of Thorne contained some wood alcohol, plus a trace of barbituates and morphine.

Kerr, Opponent Face Runoff in Oklahoma Vote

Senator Fails To Get Large Enough Lead; To Face Ex-Governor

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla) today was forced into a runoff election against former Gov. Roy J. Turner in Oklahoma's bitter primary election for the U.S. senate despite a lead that held solid throughout counting of nearly all the ballots.

State Sen. Raymond Gary, Madill, and William O. Coe, Oklahoma City attorney, landed in the July 27 runoffs for the Democratic governor's race, leaving the other candidates far behind. Gary held a small lead throughout tabulations in yesterday's primary.

Mrs. Willie E. Murray, wife of Gov. Johnston Murray, trailed far out of the picture in seventh place among the field of 16 candidates. Murray is barred from a second consecutive term by the state constitution.

Kerr's lead mounted to about 20,000 votes but the combined tallies of Turner and seven other candidates kept him below 50 per cent of the total.

Returns from 2,420 of the state's 3,155 precincts gave Kerr 176,463 votes an Turner 156,994.

Voting was held in five counties under martial law and plainclothes officers were assigned in five other counties by Murray to watch for election law violations. No trouble was reported anywhere.

Murray flew into the five martial law counties during election day for a first-hand observation of voting conditions. Charges of selling absentee ballots filed against six persons in Sequoyah County led to the order calling out the state militia.

All of Oklahoma's six congressmen won nominations without run-

Coroner's Aide Suspects Heir Died of Poison

Pathologist Testifies Trace of Drugs Found In Autopsy on Thorne

CHICAGO, (AP)—The possibility that Montgomery Ward Thorne was poisoned confronted a coroner's jury today as it resumed its investigation of the death of the 20-year-old heir to a multimillion-dollar mail order fortune.

Dr. Harry Leon, coroner's pathologist, testifying at yesterday's inquest, said he thinks Thorne may have been poisoned.

"This is still a suspicious death," he said.

Leon read a report to Coroner Walter T. McCarron by Dr. W. J. R. Camp, state toxicologist, showing an "insignificant trace quantity of barbituate, a trace quantity of alkaloid giving color reactions indicating morphine" were found in the youth's brain.

A combination of enough alcohols such as were found in Thorne's body and more dope could have caused his death, Dr. Leon declared. The alcohol, he said, may have evaporated or been dissipated in the body before the autopsy was performed.

A conflicting picture of Thorne was painted yesterday at the inquest centering on these questions:

1. What was the relationship of the dead youth and his mother, Mrs. Marion Thorne?

2. Was Thorne a "drunk" and a "dope addict?"

3. Why was he living in a $75-a-month apartment on Chicago's North Side out of touch with his family when he was found dead June 19?

4. Why did he change his will leaving half his estate to his fiancee Maureen Ragen and one-quarter to her mother Aleen nine days before his death?

County Official Admits Setting Fire to School

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — Philip Partridge, Highland County engineer, last night admitted setting fire to the Lincoln Elementary School for Negroes.

He told police Chief Walter Reffitt he set fire to the building last Monday causing approximately $5,000 damage.

Charged with arson by Prosecutor Richard L. Davis, the man appeared in a justice of the peace court and pleaded guilty. He was bound over to the grand jury and released on $2,000 bond.

Partridge was said to be active in work to bring about the advancement of the Negro race.

Prosecutor Davis told reporters Partridge apparently "was motivated by the inequalities between the whites and the colored" in setting fire to the school.

The school board had planned to do away with the Lincoln school and end segregation as soon as two other buildings are completed.

Partridge told a newsman he was concerned over the situation because he felt that the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision eliminating segregation might not become effective for 20 years.

Atom Workers Call Strike At Oak Ridge and Paducah

Ike Opposes Allowing Red China in U.N.

President Not Ready To Follow Knowland's Proposal To Withdraw

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is completely and unalterably opposed to letting Red China into the United Nations under present conditions. But he said he is not ready to say this country should withdraw from the U.N. if the Reds are admitted.

Eisenhower thus took issue by implication with Republican Senate leader Knowland of California and some other lawmakers who are urging United States withdrawal from the U.N. if the Peiping government is admitted over American protests.

Calls Strike Serious

At a news conference, the President also said a strike at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., atomic plants would be a serious thing and would put the United States in a most embarrassing and difficult position.

He said, however, he has great hope the strikers will go back to work as a result of his action last night setting up an emergency fact finding board.

CIO workers at the two plants struck a few hours before the President's news conference, ignoring the possibility of a Taft-Hartley Law injunction.

On another subject Eisenhower said prospects now are rosy that Congress will enact a legislative record, based on his proposals, of which any administration could be proud.

Likes House Bill

The President said he will be proud to go before the country and praise what Congress has done at this session if the record proves to be as good as he expects.

Eisenhower described himself as delighted with the House's adoption of the flexible price support principle in the farm bill. He said that although the bill wasn't exact-

Knowland Asks Senate Recall if Reds Win Seat

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today he hopes President Eisenhower will promise to recall Congress to deal with the situation if the United Nations should admit Communist China this fall.

Knowland, heading a delegation of Republican leaders to a weekly conference with the President, hinted in an interview that such a pledge might forestall moves in Congress to provide in advance for automatic American withdrawal from the U.N. if the Peiping regime is admitted.

July 31 Adjournment

Congress is planning to wind up its present business July 31. The Red China issue could come before the U.N. in September or later in the year, perhaps during the campaign for control of Congress at the November elections. The new Congress is scheduled to convene in January.

Knowland has said he would resign his party leadership post to campaign for American withdrawal if the U.N. accepts the Communists. But opposition appeared to be developing among some other lawmakers against committing Congress in advance to becoming—as some members phrased it—a prospective "executioner" for the world organization.

Secretary of State Dulles has pledged a vigorous fight against seating of the Chinese Communist regime in the U.N. But he has declined to commit the administration in advance to quitting the U.N. if American objections are overridden.

Talk With Ike

Knowland and Dulles discussed the issue with Eisenhower yesterday but gave no public indication of the President's attitude.

Knowland predicted Congress will write into pending foreign aid legislation a strong statement opposing Communist China's entry into the international organization. But he said this might take the form of a policy statement, rather than any automatic withdrawal of

May Cripple Production of U.S. Weapons

Nation's Sole Supply Of U-235 Made at 2 Affected Factories

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — CIO workers who help produce the nation's entire supply of fissionable uranium-235 for atomic weapons struck today at plants here and in Paducah, Ky.

Ignoring the possibility of a Taft-Hartley law injunction, the CIO chemical workers union posted pickets at 5 a.m., three hours before the appointed hour of the strike. Some 4,500 production and maintenance workers are affected.

Plant Remains Open

Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Co., which operates the plants for the Atomic Energy Commission, ordered in supervisory personnel to keep the plants in production.

Police said construction and other workers passed through the picket lines without incident.

The chemical process for production is so complex officials have said it might take a year to get the plants in operation again once stopped.

President Eisenhower issued an order yesterday for a fact-finding board to investigate the wage dispute. But union officials said they would ignore the President's action.

Demand Pay Boost

The strike was ordered in support of the union's demand for a 15-cent hourly pay raise. The demand was scaled down from 21 cents after union members rejected a 6-cent raise recommended by a presidential panel.

Another 4,500 workers represented by the rival AFL Atomic Trades and Labor Council also rejected the presidential panel's 6-cent recommendation after parallel negotiations for a 19-cent raise.

Members of both unions authorized a strike call, but Jess Haman, president of the council, said the AFL workers would stay on the job. The scales for all plants range from $1.58 to $2.40.

President Eisenower's order that a fact-finding board be set up is the first step toward invoking the Taft-Hartley law's injunction provision. The board would report in 15 days, after which the President could seek an injunction for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Wanted To Go to Mexico

Youth Shot to Death by Pilot; Tried To Commandeer Plane

CLEVELAND (AP)—Five minutes before takeoff time, 53 passengers buckled themselves into an American Airlines DC6 as it was being prepared to leave the blocks at Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

Then a 280-pound, 15-year-old boy in a leather jacket and denim trousers lumbered up the loading ramp and into the cockpit. Waving a broken, unloaded, 38-calibre revolver, he ordered Capt. William F. Bonnell to "fly to Mexico or be shot."

Whips Out Revolver

The pilot dug into his flight bag and whipped out his own revolver. He fired twice. The youth, Raymond A. Kuchenmeister Jr., died an hour later at a hospital with bullet wounds in his right hip and chest.

"What the hell could a guy do?," asked the pilot later yesterday, after he brought the flight to St. Louis, where it stopped over briefly en route to Fort Worth, Tex., and Mexico City.

Capt. Bonnell, a Clevelander, said:

"I had a maniac on my plane. We had women and children. . . ."

At first he thought it was a joke, he said. "I asked the flight engineer and copilot if they knew who this fellow was. The fellow said, 'it's none of your damn business.'"

"He had a sawed-off pistol in his hand. I tried to kid him along. He had the gun pointed at my side. While sitting there I dropped my hand down into my bag and pulled out a Colt .38 which I keep there.

"I got the gun out. Then the engineer thought of some reason to turn on the switch and asked the fellow to reach up and turn it on. The fellow did. I shot him in the hip. He still had the gun.

"He sagged a bit. I let him have it again, a little higher."

CAPT. WILLIAM BONNELL
Shoots Young Plane 'Pirate'

Passengers Don't Know

Most of the passengers aboard the flight, which originated in New York, did not realize what had happened until the boy was removed from the cockpit. The plane left about an hour late.

Standing near the ramp while his brother was shot was 12-year-old Donald, who told police the two boys had left their home, a rundown old farmhouse in suburban Parma, to "get jobs as cowboys."

Donald "got scared" as they neared the edge of the field, so "I told him to go ahead and I would hitchhike out later."

The boys' mother, Mrs. Ruth Kuchenmeister, 42, was alone with her five other children when the news came.

"I never took him seriously," she said. She described the boy as an average student but "frustrated and bitter" because "he was too big to pass for a child and too young to get a man's job."

"He liked to go to Western movies and read about the West in magazines. Lately he kept talking about going to Montana and being a cowboy," she said through tears.

"I told him it wouldn't be like he saw in the movies, but he said: 'Out there they treat you like a man.'"

Gun Was Father's

The gun Raymond carried had been given his father, a truck-driver, by a friend some seven years ago, she said.

"I haven't seen it around the house for at least two years and I thought it had been thrown away."

The mother looked around the old farmhouse and said:

"Ever since he was 12 he worried about our living conditions. He wanted to work. He wanted to bring in money for me. He talked about buying a house to make it nice for us. He was my favorite child."

Then she asked:

"Why did they have to shoot a kid?"

Russians Poised

Danger of Pacific War Subsiding, Military Says

TOKYO, (AP)—Informed military quarters said today there has been a very real threat of World War III exploding in the Pacific in recent weeks, but the danger has subsided.

These sources, who are extremely well informed, said that up to a week ago patrol planes anxiously scanned the skies north of Japan while warships on the alert sped through the South seas.

Tension Eased Now

The tension has eased considerably in the past three weeks, these sources said, but the Russians still have 35 army divisions and 700 jet bombers poised for a possible attack on Japan.

The tension was said to have resulted from the possibility that U.S. forces would intervene in Indochina. Sources here said such intervention might well have reopened the shooting war in Korea. And Russia was poised for a possible attack on Japan, rated by both East and West as the cornerstone to control of the Pacific.

Russian forces still are poised for attack, but the tension has eased and military authorities say late spring thaws in Siberia probably have softened the ground too much for quick movement of men and supplies.

Redeployment Studied

Redeployment or Allied ground forces in the Pacific is under consideration, now that the threat of war has lessened, it was reported.

There was speculation that the six U.S. divisions now in Korea would be pulled out, leaving 20 South Korean divisions to guard the demilitarized zone.

The ROK divisions are rated capable of holding off an attack by the estimated half-million North Korean and Chinese soldiers in Korea.

Plans also are under consideration to shift the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division from Japan's northern island of Hokkaido, leaving Japanese units to defend it.

Friend Detained

Youth, 14, Keeps Promise, Gets Home as Stowaway

NEW YORK (AP) — For 14-year-old Peter Devlin Smith there is no place like home, even if this home is in hot, muggy New York.

His parents, however, thought it would be a good idea if the boy spent the summer in Norway, where he goes to school.

This idea Pete didn't like at all. And the tall, blond boy had made it quite clear.

"If you don't send me passage money to come home, I'll stow away," he warned in a letter. But his mother and stepfather, Nora and Kendall Smith, apparently had underestimated this grim determination. Pete didn't get the money.

Yesterday, when they returned from a Fourth of July weekend trip, the telephone rang and the stepfather picked up the receiver.

"Hallo, Papa," he heard. "Papa, here I am."

It took some time for Papa to figure out what was going on. Finally an immigration official got on the phone and explained. Yes, Pete was here waiting to be picked up.

Later, at his Manhattan home, Pete explained everything.

He and 13-year-old Jon Eric Johannsen decided to come over. So they walked aboard the Norwegian American Line flagship Oslofjord on the crew gangplank, and that was it.

"I traveled on that ship before, you know," Pete said.

He had with him $10 and a bag

One man was killed and two others injured in a head-on collision on U. S. Route 42 in Morrow County this morning. Ike Rhodes, 69, of Cleveland was dead on arrival at the Morrow County Hospital after the car in which he was a passenger collided with a truck, two and six-tenths miles south of Mount Gilead at 3:45 a.m.

State patrolmen from the Marion post are still investigating the accident. Incomplete reports indicate the driver of a car headed north was John H. Alexander, 40, of Cleveland.

His car collided with a tractor-trailer outfit driven south by Glade W. Spurgeon, 53, of Akron. Alexander was injured as was a companion in his car, Louis Alexander, 28, also of Cleveland.

Morrow County Hospital athorities said John Alexander was to undergo surgery for a compound fracture of the left leg and lacerations of the head before a report of his condition could be made.

Lines Blown Together Here, Power Cut Off

Weather conditions were attributed as the cause of an electric power failure for some residents of the southeastern portion of Marion early this morning, according to Harold J. Grigsby, division manager.

Wind accompanying the early morning rain caused two wires to come together, snapping one in two, he said.

Electric service to consumers was disrupted at approximately 6:35 a.m. today when the wire was damaged on S. Prospect St. near the edge of town.

Repair crews were working at the location soon after power was reported off, and service was restored at 10:48.

Earthquake Jars Plains in Nevada

RENO (AP)—The West's most jarring earthquake in two years spent its force on the bleak plains of western Nevada and damage was largely confined to the little community of Fallon and its neighborhood.

Fourteen sailors were injured at the Fallon Naval Auxillary Air Station. One suffered a broken leg, the others were cut or bruised.

A series of aftershocks culminated in a heavy rolling quake in midafternoon which was felt in San Francisco and made chandeliers swing in San Diego.

Police Chief Peter Lugaski of Fallon said six downtown buildings in the town 60 miles east of Reno were severely damaged.

Responsibility

By George Sokolsky

SOKOLSKY

Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer is one of the most imaginative and highly cultivated minds in this country. The conclusions of the Atomic Energy Commission leave one with a sense of tragedy, for, no matter what Oppenheimer' gifts may be, his conduct has been without morality. Even Commissioner Henry DeWolf Smyth who dissented from the opinions of his fellow - commissioners and who defended Oppenheimer had to admit that Oppenheimer lied childishly and was sorry for it. So is Klaus Fuchs sorry for what he did, but that does not help the United States.

Essentially this is a moral question and is a materialistic era, moral questions are often subordinated to the pragmatic.

DR. SMYTH clearly indicates this view when he says:

"Since Dr. Oppenheimer is one of the most knowledgeable and lucid physicists we have, his services could be of great value to the country in the future. . ."

Skill is not good enough when what is involved is national security. A forger is an extremely skillful person but no jury would take that into consideration as a mitigation for a crime.

Dr. Oppenheimer is not accused of any crime on the statute books, but his discretion, in a field where indiscretion can be destructive of national existence, is denied and at least one commissioner, Thomas E. Murray, denies his loyalty.

It is the Murray opinion that interests me most because it deals with the fundamental moral relationship between the citizen and the state.

This we often overlook in the general assumption that anything goes in politics, that a man is entitled to a job if he has the qualifications, and that the government may use any pretext to do what it chooses.

MURRAY'S OPINION pursues a philosophy of life, influenced, I find, by the moral concept of Thomas Aquinas. Murray defines loyalty as faithfulness and says:

"This faithfulness is a matter of obligation; it is a duty owed. The root of the obligation and duty is the lawfulness of the government, rationally recognized and freely accepted by the citizens.

"The American citizen recognizes that his government, for all its imperfections, is a government under law, of law, by law; therefore he is loyal to it. . ."

He then goes on to say that the advent of the Communist conspiracy has forced upon the American government the necessity of establishing and emphasizing a security system which in some respects offends the American concepts of private opinion and private action.

So, Murray distinguishes between the citizens who accepts responsibilities within the government and those who do not. He says:

"The American citizen in private life, the man who is not engaged in governmental service, is not bound by the requirements of the security system. However, those American citizens who have the privilege of participating in the operations of government, especially in sensitive agencies, are necessarily subject to this special system of law.

"Consequently, their faithfulness to lawful government of the United States, that is to say their loyalty, must be judged by the standard of their obedience to security regulations. . ."

I WONDER if such a distinction can really be made in a free society. Suppose I were to encounter at a dinner party a blabbing fool employed by the AEC or the CIA who insists on showing off by telling in a mixed and uncertain company all that he knows, including national secrets, let us say, upon which depend victory or defeat in time of war.

According to the rules of gentlemanly conduct, one should not repeat outside what one hears at his host's table.

But am I a free person in that respect? Am I free to be gentlemanly if I even suspect that in this silly, blow - hard, name-dropping conversation lies peril to my family, my country, my civilization? If I see a fire in somebody's else's home, must I not turn in an alarm? Shall I play safe and mind my own business and hope for the best?

These are questions for moral responsibility which some can dodge with ease because they believe that the Eleventh Commandment is the greatest of all, namely, to mind one's own business, or as the Chinese put it, "Never look into your neighbor's pot."

The Oppenheimer Case, so far, does not involve espionage; it does involve security and responsibility and these are questions of essential morality.

Precedent

By Victor Riesel

RIESEL

The government of the United States has declared war on the Teamsters Union the most powerful, the largest, and, many believe, the most politically influential in the United States. The "war" budget runs into the millions, if properly totalled to include the salaries of the special agents involved and the time the conflict will run until it's settled in the courts.

Never has the government closed in on and surrounded a union as completely as the FBI, congressional committees and the Justice Department have at this moment.

There are six federal grand juries probing the union in the Midwest. The most recent to begin hearings is the one in Kansas City. In addition two congressional committees and, at times, literally hundreds of FBI and other government agents are investigating what has been termed the "core" of the brotherhood of 1,500,000 drivers who keep the nation's wheels rolling.

THE GOVERNMENT'S investigation of this farflung union is not aimed at its president, David Beck, or its international office. The man with whom the government is dueling is a short, stocky young leader, built like the kind of fullback you always hoped would try the other end of the line.

That man is Jim Hoffa, the second most influential man in the Teamsters Union and, as I see him, the most powerful Midwest union leader, controlling the greatest consentration of industrial might.

One of my early mentors once warned me not to make absolute statements in this columning business but this one is safe. There is no tougher adversary anywhere in these United States than Jim Hoffa, ninth vice-president of the Teamsters.

The men who push the big trucks across 23 Central states, and 12 Southern states know him as their leader. I'll make book that in a decade—if Hoffa survives the scores of government probes of him and of some of his toughest lieutenants—the rest of American labor will have to take much of its leadership from him. How Detroit then will hold both Hoffa and Walter Reuther, no one has yet figured out.

WHEN I TALKED with Hoffa recently in Chicago's Palmer House, which was well covered by government agents, I got the feeling this fellow of woven steel was sort of proud of being their number one target.

He asked no breaks—and warned he'd give none. He was hard and tough and blunt spoken and sober. His drink was tea, and it went down without diluting the impact this man has on you. And impact is the word for it.

To know him is to know many of those younger business-labor leaders who will move from the second to the first echelons in the next 10 or 15 years. Jim Hoffa is a wealthy man. He believes that the modern union chief neither defies any ethical codes nor betrays his followers by becoming a successful businessman while leading a union.

He sees a thorough consistency in his investing in real estate, summer camps, car haulage companies, oil wells, and insurance brokerage houses while negotiating with other businessmen for the scores of thousands in the Central States organization of Teamsters which he leads. Hoffa says it's all legal.

Hoffa, who would just as lief tell you to drop dead as talk to you, knows the government has declared war on him.

THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT has the files of congressional hearings in Detroit. Its agents are searching not only for possible criminal violations, but for any evidence of defiance of the Civil Rights law—which is unprecedented stratagem.

Government men believe they can make a case out of pressuring employers into forcing their workers to sign up with a particular union. The government's theory here is that a worker has been denied the right to join a union of his choice, or no union at all.

FBI agents are searching for possible violations of the Taft-Hartley law. Detroit is getting a thorough combing.

There some of Hoffa's men are on trial charged with extortion and conspiracy to monopolize the juke box business. Hoffa himself has been called by congressional probers the "brains" of some Detroit shakedown rackets and terrorism.

Hoffa charges all this is an attack on his union and that he's not made an illegal move. This he may soon get a chance to prove. There's a tremendous, precedent-making case in the offing.

Future in Drugs

By Hal Boyle

"Wanted: Bright, responsible young men for indoor jobs in pleasant surroundings. Starting salaries $100-$135 weekly. Promotion possibilities unlimited."

HAL BOYLE

A newspaper ad like that would sound like the answer to a college graduate's prayer.

But jobs with these advantages are practically going begging today in the nation's four - billion - dollar - a-year drug industry. It is faced with a growing shortage of trained pharmacists.

"Enrollment in the country's 75 pharmacy colleges has dropped 25 per cent," said Carl Willingham, secretary-treasurer of the National Assn. of Chain Drugstores. "They graduated 5,000 pharmacists five years ago, only 4,000 last year."

THIS FALLING enrollment has led the American Assn. of Colleges of Pharmacy to issue 150,000 booklets to high school career advisers citing the opportunity in the corner drugstore.

The United States has some 105,000 registered pharmacists—1 out of 10 is a woman—of whom about 90,000 are employed in the nation's 55,000 drug stores. The rest work in hospitals, government bureaus, research projects or for manufacturing firms.

But a steadily increasing population and growing interest in health have spurred a need for more, not fewer pharmacists. And the demand is for better trained men. It is estimated that more than half the drugs used most often in prescriptions today were unknown before the second world war.

A generation ago druggists worked an average of 60 hours a week. That has been cut to 48 hours in most areas, to 40 in a number of large cities.

"In most states a young man can become a registered pharmacist after four years of college study and a year of internship in a drug store," said Willingham, "and he doesn't have to pound the pavement looking for work.

"The jobs are there waiting. And there are plenty of openings at the top. There is a big need for drugstore managers. A man can work himself up to the $50,000 a year class, or higher, just as he can in any other field.

"OWNERS OF pharmacies make more money on the average than either dentists or lawyers."

He cited the case of George B. Burrus, a soda fountain clerk who studied pharmacy in his spare time, now is president of the Peoples Drugstore Chain, which has 151 stores and does an annual 51 million dollar volume.

Another ex-pharmacist who rose to the top in management, Harry J. Loynd, heads Parke, Davis & Co., which manufactured $109,000,000 worth of pharmaceuticals in 1953.

WHILE INDUSTRY leaders have the welcome mat out for girl students in pharmacy, they don't expect the ladies to solve the current shortage.

"They work an average of four years—then get married,' said Willingham.

Keeping the soda fountains manned is about as much of a problem as keeping the prescription counter staffed. One big reason: The operators resent the old tags "soda jerk" and "soda squirt."

One manufacturer tried to glamorize the job by creating a new title—"fountaineers." But the campaign flopped quickly.

"Another suggestion is to call them 'fizz kids,'" remarked Willingham, and asked hopefully, "Do you think it will catch on?"

As a retired soda jerk myself, I think they need a name with more military romance behind it—maybe something like "marshmallow grenadiers" or "scoop colonels."

Harpster Defeats Radnor 5-0 in Mid-Ohio Contest

Harpster dumped Radnor 5-0 in a Mid-Ohio League holiday tilt. The Radnor nine was limited to three base hits.

Snyder went all the way on the mound for the winners with Graham doing the catching. One error was committed by the Harpster nine. Liggett was on the hill for Radnor and absorbed the loss. Two errors were charged against the Radnor defense. Snyder notched 11 strike outs and walked one. Liggett retired nine on strikes and gave up three passes.

Prospect Falls At Green Camp In Teen Game

Green Camp edged Prospect 2-1 in a Marion County Teen League contest on the winners' field last night.

John Bish and Louie Finch combined to hurl Green Camp to the victory. Bish pitched the first six frames, allowing four hits, striking out six and walking three, while Finch finished up, coming on in the seventh to post three strikeouts.

Lauer went the distance for Prospect, losing a one-hitter. He fanned four and walked the same number of batters. Lone hit off him was a triple by Mervin Stover.

Bob Rodgers led the Prospect hitting attack with a double and single. Bruce Emery and Moser both had singles for the remaining Prospect safeties.

Green Camp is at Marion Thursday night for a tilt with the Marion Indians.

Mrs. Dennis Day WHY DO YOU PREFER BLUE BONNET?

Mrs. Dennis Day, Los Angeles, Calif., wife of the noted radio and TV singing star, is the mother of four lively youngsters.

"I've discovered that all margarines are not the same! Take nutrition, for instance. Smooth-spreading BLUE BONNET contains both the essential vitamins A and D. And it's a valuable source of food-energy—my children thrive on it. BLUE BONNET truly is unsurpassed for Flavor, Nutrition, Economy!"

Governor Orders Check on Reports Of Discrimination

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today asked Ernest Cornell, head of the bureau of unemployment compensation, to check all reports of racial discrimination in hiring state workers.

The request followed complaints that some state agencies specified "white" workers in asking the job placement service for help, the governor reported.

The bureau has a Negro representative in each local unemployment compensation office and one in the central state office. The governor explained:

"I told Mr. Cornell to check into the matter and to make certain that those minority representatives bring to his attention any transgression of the rule that hiring shall be done only on the basis of merit and without discrimination."

The governor said figures submitted by various state commissions on the proportion of white and Negro workers "shows an absence of discrimination.

"Nine among hundreds of requests for personnel have been brought to my attention," the governor told newsmen after a conference with division heads and other state officials.

He added officials aserted there was no discrimination because some previous requests had been for Negro employes.

Ronald Wilson Hospitalized in County Mishap

Two Accidents Listed By Patrolmen, Police Report Three in City

A Marion County man was injured in one of two accidents reported today by state patrolmen from the Marion post. Ronald H. Wilson, 31, of near Marion, was reported in "good" condition in Marion City Hospital today. City police reported five accidents—three involving slight injuries and one with less than $100 damage.

Wilson was injured when the car he was driving sideswiped one driven by William M. Fabian, 61, also of near Marion on County Road 138 six-tenths of a mile east of U. S. Route 23 at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Patrolmen report Wilson was headed east and Fabian was going west. Wilson was taken to the hospital in a Boyd ambulance. He suffered contusions of the left thigh and chest.

Fabian was arrested and ordered to appear in Municipal Court July 17 to answer charges of driving with no operator's license and driving left of center.

Both cars were badly damaged in the left front and left side.

The other accident reported by patrolmen happened in their own front yard when a car driven by Beulah J. Mullins of Ypsilanti, Mich. skidded off U. S. Route 23 onto the yard of the patrol post north of town.

No injuries or damage to the car resulted, but patrolmen report their yard was badly torn up by the car. The woman was arrested and charged with driving with no operator's license.

The owner of the car and a passenger in the vehicle, Joe Bates also of Ypsilanti was arrested and charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle. Both are to appear in Municipal Court today.

District Traffic Cases

Five motorists were arrested on area highways in the past 24 hours by state patrolmen from the Marion post. Of those arrested, Cleo Taylor of Cleveland and William E. Custar, 41, of Elyria were fined by Mayor Emery Murphy of Mount Gilead.

The woman was fined $10 and costs for passing at the crest of a hill, while Custar was assessed $5 and costs for driving with no operator's license. Both were arrested on U. S. Route 42.

Ronald E. Crawford, 49, of Columbus was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Harold Koehler of Upper Sandusky for speeding on Route 23. Donald R. Montgomery, 21, of St. John, Kan. was fined $15 and costs for speeding on Route 42. Assessing his fine was Judge Henry Wolfe of Delaware.

Posting bond to appear before Judge Wolfe next Monday was Chester Bowles, 49, of Hillsboro, Fla. He was charged with speeding on Route 42.

Hit-Skip Accident

The hit-skip accident was reported at 4:27 p.m. Tuesday. It happened at W. Center St. and Cayuga Ave., A car owned by Robert L. Shoemaker, 22, of 380 E. George St. was parked on W. Center St. when it was struck.

Police arrested Henry Brewer, 21, of 167 Latourette St. and charged him with leaving the scene of an accident. He was to appear in Municipal Court today.

Man Walks Into Truck

Three persons, including a pedestrian and a bicyclist, were slightly injured in three different accidents investigated by police yesterday.

Police also reported a hit-skip accident, and one involving damage of less than $100.

Stanley I. Smith, 71, of 327 W. Church St. received cuts about the face as he walked into the side of a truck driven by Gary H. Snouffer, 21, of 1171 E. Church St. at E. Center St. in front of the Marion County Courthouse at 5:35 p.m. Tuesday.

Smith almost walked into the side of a westbound automobile before being struck by the eastbound truck. Driver of the car, Robert Vaughan, 29, of 211 Windsor St. was able to stop before striking the man. Smith was walking from the north to the south side of the street in the middle of the block. Both vehicles were moving slowly at the time of the mishap.

No treatment was required for the pedestrian.

Bicycle Strikes Car

At 6:15 p.m., John Nickels, 13, of 533 Universal Ave. was scratched and cut on the right arm when his bicycle ran into the side of a car stopped on Hudson Ct. at the corner of N. Main St.

Driver of the car was listed as Don Clark, 65, of 416 Thompson St. Policemen sent the boy home for treatment of his cuts.

A slight neck injury was received by Raymond Cottrell, 11, of 656 Oak St. at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday when the car in which he was sitting was struck by another from the rear on N. Prospect St. in front of Uhler's parking lot.

Police reports show the car, which was owned by the boy's mother, Mrs. Russell Cottrell, was parked on the street.

The driver of the car which struck the parked car got out, looked at the damage, and drove off. The boy was taken to the family doctor for treatment.

Pilots' Club Aims To Advance Aviation

AVIATION ENTHUSIASTS LIKE TO "GO PLACES FAST." Members of a newly formed Marion Pilots Association fit this description.

UPPER: Club members are shown as they prepared to paint identifying numbers on Municipal Airport runways less than two months after the club was formed. Left to right they are: Edward Tarleton, Charles Whysall, Joseph Drake, John Kessler, Charles Wimpee and Maurice Routon.

Safety and Service Rate High on List of New Group's Goals

Promotion of greater interest in aviation and in particular, flying at Marion Municipal Airport, is the aim of a relatively new club in Marion.

Called the Marion Pilots Association, it was formed on April 20 and now has a membership of 48 active and inactive pilots from Marion, Richwood, Delaware, Kenton, Mount Gilead, and many smaller towns in Marion and surrounding counties.

THE CLUB LISTS as its purpose, "to promote interest and safety in flying and to cooperate with civic, governmental, and educational groups in matters affecting aviation in those areas where interests of the organizations are the same."

Driving force behind the organization of the club was a well-known Marionite and aviation enthusiast, George Wood. Now a member of the board of directors of the club, he was one of the pilots who talked up such an organization among other pilots in the Marion area for the past two years or more.

Now only a little over two months old, the club has already outlined several community projects and has put the second part of its purpose to good use.

Club members voluntarily are painting numbers on the runways at Municipal Airport in order that pilots will be better able to identify them. The huge numbers are of standard design and indicate the direction of the runway in relation to the magnetic north pole.

—:—

THE CLUB RECENTLY helped out the Marion Chamber of Commerce in directing aircraft traffic for the annual breakfast flight and air show.

"One of our most important functions is to promote safe flying," said Charles Whysall, treasurer.

Along these lines, the club has already worked out and adopted a set of rules for air traffic patterns for flying at Marion Municipal Airport and the Baker Aviation Corp. airport nearby.

With a total of some 50 planes at the two ports—30 at Municipal Airport and 20 at Baker Aviation—this was a particularly important step fostering increased safety. The new rules makes possible flying at both ports at the same time without danger of air collisions. Previously there were no rules for either airport which set exact routes to be followed by aircraft landing or taking off. This unnecessarily heightened the danger of accidents. Now, there is minimum danger of crackups because of the close proximity of the two ports.

ANOTHER PLAN, still in the talking stage, is to build a club house at the Municipal Airport, where members, associate members, and visiting pilots could go to relax and use its facilities.

Sometime before the summer is over, the club also plans to hold a "hanger dance" at the airport with an orchestra to provide the music. Plans for this affair are not yet complete, "but we definitely will hold the dance," according to Whysall.

Proceeds from the dance will be used to support the club's community projects. Among these projects is one which will help to further interest in aviation, club members feel. This is to encourage model plane flying and building to get more of the younger set interested in aviation. There is some talk among club members about sponsoring a model plane flying meet with prizes for various achievements by the model plane builders and flyers.

Main topics of discusion at the regular club meetings every two weeks are the many propoposed projects, and aviation safety. In general, a speaker talks on some subject related to the stated purpose of the club.

FUN IS ALL a part of the club creed and this includes group flights to such places as central Michigan for a weekend of fishing or to other cities for get-togethers with similar pilots organizations.

Club members point out that membership is not limited to pilots only. There are associate memberships available for anyone who is interested in aviation and would like to see it continue to grow, particularly in the Marion area.

Officers of the association are Thomas H. Clark, president; Alan Sparrowhawk, vice president; Joseph Drake, secretary; and Whysall as treasurer.

The board of directors, in addition to Wood, includes: Warren Gray, Harold Cobb, B. K. Hill Jr., Dr. A. J. Wagner and the officers.

Eisenhower

ly what he recommended, he regards its passage as a great and sweeping victory.

The bill provides a flexible scale of price supports for basic crops ranging from 82½ to 90 per cent of parity, replacing the rigid 90 per cent supports of the present law. Eisenhower originally had asked for a flexible system ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity, a price calculated by the government as fair to the farmer in relation to the prices of goods he buys.

In reponse to a question, Eisenhower voiced complete confidence in the integrity, loyalty and efficiency of Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and said the agency is under constant examination by the executive branch to see it does it work with honesty and decency.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has said the CIA is dangerously infiltrated with Communists and has been under preliminary investigation by the McCarthy Investigations Subcommittee.

McCarthy last night said he has offered to turn over his information to a subcommittee of the Hoover Commission, now studying reorganization of the executive department of government. Dulles has denied any Communist infiltration of the agency.

Eisenhower made his comment about the CIA and Dulles when a reporter said one Capitol Hill view is that CIA may have been infiltratated by Communists and asked for the President's ideas on that.

McCarthy's name was not mentioned at the news conference today.

Eisenhower said he also has great confidence in Gen. Mark W. Clark, head of the Hoover Commission task force which will study the CIA.

Eisenhower began his meeting with newsmen by thanking the newspaper, radio and television industries for cooperating in his campaign to reduce highway fatalities over the July 4th holiday.

Plow Accident Injures Farmer Near Caledonia

Carl Bailey, a farmer of near Caledonia, was seriously injured about the face recently while plowing corn. The bone in his nose was smashed into slivers when the cultivator lever failed to lock into position and sprang back, striking his face.

He rode a quarter of a mile to his home from where he was taken to the office of the Caledonia physician by his wife. He was treated and returned to his home.

NEW MEMBERS WELCOMED

Welcomed as members of the Waldo St. Paul's Lutheran Church Luther League recently were members of this year's confirmation class. Plans were made for a picnic or swimming party at a later date with a committee appointed to arrange details of the event.

Rotarians Hear Official of Ohio Banking Group

History of Business Explained by Speaker In Humorous Address

"Banking in Fourteen Easy Lesson" was the subject of a humorous talk given by O. E. Anderson, secretary of the Ohio Bankers Association of Columbus, at the Marion Rotary Club weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Harding.

The speaker also gave a history of banking from its start in 1803 when the first bank was chartered in Cincinnati by the legislature. He traced banking developmenst to the present time, through depressions when many people lost money as a result of banks not being insured properly. He explained there is no chance of depositors losing money now becaue of federal insurance.

Mr. Anderson also discussed the great increase which has been shown in the checking account departments of banks. In this day, checks take the place of the old bank notes which formerly were issued.

Francis B. Huber was program chairman for the day and introduced the speaker.

New officers presided at their first meeting. They include Odell Thompson, president, Ralph W. Howard, vice president, and Harold W. Hall, secretary and treasurer.

Two new members inducted into the club were Dr. Phillip W. Smith and James E. Miller. In charge of the ceremony was Mr. Thompson.

Visiting Rotarians were Charles G. Cotteral of Vancouver, British Columbia, E. W. Stubbs of Maywood, Ill., and James J. Chadwell of Kingsport, Tenn.

Guests included Ernest L. Davis, E. Paul Bachman, Russell C. Snare and T. W. Hastings, all of Marion, D. C. Kiesel of Rocky River, O., and W. G. Sutherland of Toledo.

funds and representatives such as he previously had said were under study. Such a policy statement was voted by Congress last year.

"I don't think there is any doubt that Congress will express itself forcefully against letting the Chinese Communists shoot their way into the United Nations," Knowland said. "What other action it takes I think will depend on reports we are getting from the State Department.

"But if the President makes it clear he intends to call Congress back—or at least call the leaders into consultation so that early congressional action can be planned—it might not be necessary to go further at this time. I hope such a statement will be forthcoming from the administration soon."

Several senators, including Lehman (D-Lib-NY), Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (Ind-Ore), have said it would be unwise to tie American policy in advance to a contingency that may never arise.

Oklahoma

off elections. The four with primary opposition were Carl Albert, 3rd district; Tom Steed, 4th; John Jarman, 5th; and Victor Wickersham, 6th, all Democrats. They swamped all opponents.

Representatives Page Belcher, 1st District Republican, and Ed Edmondson, 2nd District, Democrat, had no primary opposition.

A runoff in the Republican U. S. Senate race was apparently assured between Raymond H. Fields, Guymon publisher, and Fred M. Mock, former U.S. District Attorney. The Republican primary vote is usually about 50,000—a tenth of the Democratic turnout—although major GOP candidates often run close races in the general election.

Reuben Sparks, Woodward attorney, apparently won the GOP nomination for governor without a runoff. Four opponents offered no serious threat.

The Senate race between the two oil millionaires, both former governors, held top interest in the primary. It was a rough, hard slugging campaign and observers had predicted it would be close.

Turner criticized Kerr's attendance record in the Senate and the expansion of Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., into foreign oil operations. Kerr replied that many of his missed roll calls were on oil and gas legislation that would affect his company and that he had voted on all bills pertaining to, or affecting, Oklahoma.

Gary and Coe walked off from the other candidates in the governor's race from the start. State Sen. Bill Logan, a relatively unknown candidate statewide who gained attention by advocating repeal of Oklahoma's liquor prohibition laws, was a strong third.

Inhalator Run Made

One inhalator call was answered by Marion firemen this morning when a 15-year-old girl suffered an attack of hysteria.

Firemen were called to help Evelyn Adams of 427 Fies Ave. They report they worked for about 35 minutes on the girl. She was then taken to Marion City Hospital in an ambulance from the M. H. Gunder Sons Funeral Home.

Coroner

5. Was Thorne being blackmailed?

Mother Stoic

His mother entered the jammed courtroom with stoic determination. Her chalk-white face contrasted with her black crepe dress and the diamond-crusted cross at her throat.

Bordering on collapse as the barrage of questions wore on, she made these points:

1. She claimed she "barely knew" her son's 18-year-old fiancee who displaced her as chief heir in his last will.

2. She openly doubted that the pair meant to marry, saying, "He certainly had a lot of girls for an engaged boy."

3. She charged that Thorne was being blackmailed when he died and didn't come home for that reason. No details of the blackmail were given.

4. She said Thorne had come home "drunk" once and she had heard rumors he was taking dope but strongly denied she ever had him arrested, accusing him of alcoholism or narcotics addiction.

At one point in the questioning, Mrs. Thorne said: "I was praying for God to send him home. He did, but He sent him to his real home. For two years I traveled the road to Calvary, and now I am at the foot of the cross, and it is up to you people to take over.

"Thank God, I know where he is now," she said, nervously fingering a rosary.

Contrasting Testimony

In sharp contrast with her testimony, Sgt. Michael Murphy had told the court that Thorne told him and Detective Walter Binder:

"I don't like to say it, but I am living away from home because I don't like my mother."

containing pants, shirt, shoes, socks and underwear.

The two spent nine days aboard the ship, mixing with the paying passengers, playing deck games and sleeping in shower rooms.

As for food — it was simple, explained Pete.

The first day out when the ship docked in Copenhagen they got landing cards like any other passenger and had sandwiches ashore.

"The rest of the time we ate cookies mostly," said Pete. "We'd ask the cook for some and he thought we were passengers."

The pair was discovered in the luggage room, only five hours before the ship docked last Friday.

Jon, Pete's companion, was detained aboard to be returned to Norway.

Pete's parents, however, could not be located as they were out of town, and the immigration service offered him a shelter at Ellis Island. He stayed there for five days — compliments of the U.S. government, of course.

Pete's parents know now that when he makes a promise he keeps it.

her parents in Miami every summer.

Roberts was away from home, conferring with a client who is seeking a Florida divorce, when the child's disappearance was discovered, police said. He returned a few minutes after police and FBI agents arrived.

The family left Baltimore last Saturday to drive to Miami for their annual summer visit with Mrs. Roberts' parents.

The kidnaper apparently went into Rosenberg's bedroom, stole the keys to his car from the pocket of his trousers, then took the child from the studio couch in the living room where she was asleep, police said.

Postal Receipts in June Increase by 55 Per Cent

Postal receipts for June and also for the first six months of 1954 topped those of the corresponding periods last year, Postmaster Homer D. Cole reported today.

The June receipts this year amounted to $79,765, an increase of 55.81 per cent over June 1953.

Receipts for the first half of the year totalled $490,237, an increase over the same period last year of 40.61 per cent.

Charge Studied In 6-Week-Old Death of Girl

Mother-in-Law Held For Failing To Report; No Signs of Violence

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Dora Liter, 50, sat in a cell today in the Adams County jail, intermittently sleeping, praying, singing psalms and babbling in "unknown tongues."

She was held without charge in connection with the death of her dauther-in-law, Edith Liter, 21, whose body was found Monday some six weeks after death.

Coroner E. T. Gibboney said the body was badly decomposed but showed no signs of head injuries or physical violence. He sent the body to Cincinnati for a complete autopsy.

Vernon Young, county prosecutor, said an autopsy indicated the young woman died about six weeks ago of "apparently natural causes brought on by malnutrition." He said a charge of failure to report a death may be made.

The badly decomposed body was examined by Dr. Frank P. Cleveland, pathologist, Cincinnati.

Sheriff Eugene Fulton said the elder Mrs. Liter was "a religious fanatic' who sometimes held revivalistic services in the county jail.

"She believes in fasting for days," he said.

Her farm home near Cedar Mills, about 10 miles east of West Union, contains many religious slogans, inside and outside. The daughter-in-law's body was found in the bedroom of the house by her brother-in-law, Kenneth Vogeler. He said he became suspicious about her absence.

Neatly Dressed

Dr. Gibboney said the dead woman was neatly dressed in a gown and white hose. Her shoes were placed under the bed.

The mother-in-law was not at home when officers found the body. She said she had been in a weekend revival meeting in Kentucky.

Asked why she did not report the death, Fulton said she replied:

"I reported to the Lord. That's all that's necessary."

Later she said, "No one ever dies."

Mrs. Fulton described Mrs. Liter as a good prisoner.

Fatality

The younger Alexander was treated for a sprained left ankle and lacerations of the left foot, then released. Spurgeon was uninjured in the collision.

Both vehicles were demolished. The injured were taken to the hospital in a Curl ambulance. The body of Rhodes was taken to the Curl funeral home.

Incomplete patrol reports indicate charges may be filed against one of the drivers, but give no indication of who was at fault.

A coroner's report listed the cause of Rhodes' death as skull fracture. The body is being held at Curl's pending word from Cleveland.

Ike Rhodes was born in Georgia in 1883. His father's name is unknown, but his mother was Emma Johnson Rhodes. He was one of a family of 11 brothers and sisters.

In Cleveland, he was a laborer at the Standard Brass Foundry. Only known survivor is his wife, Maggie.

The body will be returned this afternoon to Cleveland where funeral services will be conducted by the House of Wills Funeral Home. Burial is expected to be in Crawfordsville, Ga.

TV Loses Laughs, Master Says

'Rush Treatment' Ruins Comedy, Sennett Claims

By JAMES POWERS

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Mack Sennett, the man who made comedy stars by the corps and first discovered the true value of a custard pie, took time out today to cast an expert eye on the humor that comes out of television sets.

TV, declared the creator of the Sennett bathing beauties and the Keystone Cops, gives comedy such a fast treatment that most of the laughs are shaken out.

"It takes time to make comedy," Sennett said during an interview-break from his chores in writing his memoirs and working on a new movie. "But with TV it seems to be all 'Hurry up, hurry up.' You can't do it like that.

"Comedy," he went on, "is a very serious business."

In the days when Sennett-directed pies flew unerringly for audiences' amusement, "we used to take about four weeks to make a two-reel comedy," said Sennett, who has "made" a dozen famed movie comedians. "The finished product ran 15 to 18 minutes. It cost us $25,000 to $30,000 to make.

"Today that same comedy, same production, would cost $150,000 and it wouldn't be long enough for a half-hour TV show."

Great Actors Gone

Another factor that's changed, Sennett said, is the people. While he refrained from hitting at the comedians of today ("many of whom are very fine"), it was plain his heart is with yesterday's stalwarts, the immortals of film comedy.

"W. C. Fields, Marie Dressler, Charlie Chaplin, Harry Langdon," he said, ticking them off on his fingers. "Those are only a few of the great ones we had. Do they have anyone like that today?"

Sennett is currently working as adviser on the Universal-International movie, "Abbott and Costello Meet the Keystone Cops." He shook with laughter as he talked about some of the sequences.

"It is the same wonderful comedy we used to have," he said. "You know there isn't anything new in comedy or dress, just new ways of doing the wonderful old things. We have some scenes in this movie that are the funniest things I have seen in a long time."

Sennett made upwards of 1,000 movies in his more active days and still retains the rights to most of them.

Besides his movie work, Bennett is busy on his autobiography, "The King of Comedy." Nearing 70, he lives and works in the heart of Hollywood, in a large and pleasant apartment on Hollywood Blvd.

Known as the master and originator of slapstick comedy, Sennett is interested not only in the mechanics of moviemaking but the art and aesthetics of it as well.

Motivation Necessary

"We didn't throw a custard pie just to be funny" he explained. "We threw a pie in someone's face because it was the logical thing to do. That's motivation. By that I mean that the man wanted to throw something and he was in a situation where the pie was available.

"You must have motivation for what you do. There must be related cause and effect. Otherwise it's just a hash. And it isn't funny."

Sennett said there isn't time to consider all these things in TV. "That's why they're having trouble."

He said that in making his comedies he would often shoot 5,000 feet of film and get only 1,000 good feet out of it, "or nothing."

"We could experiment! They don't do that enough today. Find new ways to do things, new ways to say things . . .

"Don't forget you are dealing with motion pictures, m o t i o n pictures—even if your screen is only the TV set. Action, motion—those are the things that are important."

Indian hostilities which led to Custer's last stand in 1876 resulted in part from Indian protests at movements of whites into the Black Hills in one of the last big gold rushes.

Trooper Decides There Is Limit to Back-Seat Kissing

STRASBURG, Va. (AP) — State Trooper William Berry doesn't frown on back-seat romancers in automobiles, as a general rule. But he sometimes makes an exception.

Like yesterday, for instance. Berry arrested the drivers of two cars on reckless driving charges when he saw a girl on the rear seat of one of the cars embracing a fellow on the back seat of the other. The cars were moving side by side at about 40 m.p.h.

Due for trial justice court hearings July 16 are drivers Allen C. Hill of Norristown, Pa., and Mrs. Cartherine Black of Alexandria, Va.

Berry didn't place any charges against the lovebirds, whom he wouldn't identify.

Fires Possible In Hay Mows, Expert Warns

Agricultural Engineer Believes Poor Curing Results in Combustion

COLUMBUS—Hay mows sometimes become firey furnaces, J D. Blickle, Ohio State University extension agricultural engineer reminds farmers. He said all hay that is incompletely cured at time of storage is subject to spontaneous combustion.

Blickle suggested a thermometer probe to quickly check mows where hot spots or pockets are suspected. A fairly accurate temperature may be obtained by forcing the probe into the hay and leaving it for one or two minutes. Always use the probe in the same holes at every reading and between readings keep the holes plugged with a stick the same size as the probe.

To make the probe, take a ¾ inch wooden rod and sharpen the point Imbed a glass thermometer in a groove cut in the side of the rod near the sharpened end and fasten the thermometer in the groove with several turns of electriclane friction tape. Use a thermometer that has a temperature range of at least 100 to 212 degrees Fahrenheit.

Hay temperatures above 125 degrees are unusual and enter the danger zone at 150 degrees. When temperatures go above 150 degrees, Blickle advised farmers to take temperature readings daily and watch for hot spots.

When the temperature of hay in mows reaches 175 degrees, hot spots may be expected and all doors and windows should be closed to prevent drafts Blickle advised farmers to remove all animals and equipment from the building at this stage, arrange for stand-by fire fighting service, and notify the insurance agent.

Farmers walking on heated hay may drop into a burning pocket, he warned. If they have to enter the mow, he suggested they use long planks or a ladder for a walkway and have help on hand in case of an accident A rope tied around their waist is another safety precaution when entering hot hay mows.

New Methods In Plot Work Will Be Shown

Band Seeding in Oats, Other Demonstrations Planned for Hay Day

The old Biblical adage of reaping what you sow will get a scientific twist at Hay and Pasture Day to be held at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster, July 9.

Three of the newest methods to be demonstrated in plot work include band seeding in oats, seeding in high-yielding wheat, and meadow crops in wide row corn.

Strictly an Ohio development, the wide row corn plan promises to attract considerable attention from Buckeye farmers who attend. The system is already proving practical because it eliminates the need to grow either oats or wheat in which to sow meadow mixtures.

Other features of Hay and Pasture Day include talks on grass birdsfoot trefoil, custom spreading of fertilizers on meadows, and others.

The morning program will be held at the station's pasture farm located two miles southeast of Wooster on Route 250. During he afternoon visitors will view plots at the agronomy center opposite the main dairy farm. Over 20 points of interest will be included on the field day tours.

A Wayne County Grange unit will serve lunch at noon.

Fungus Disease Hits Wheat Yields

Wheat yields in Ohio will be lower than expected this year because of powdery mildew — a fungous disease, according to B. F. Janson, plant pathologist of the Agricultural Extension Service.

Powdery mildew is present in most Ohio wheat fields. It appears as a grayish, moldy growth that may be in scattered spots on the leaves and stems, or it may entirely cover the leaves and lower part of stems. Badly infected leaves are killed, becoming brown and withered.

Powdery mildew usually starts and is most prevalent at the base of the plants. It is most destructive on rankest growing plants. Use of resistant varieties represents the most practical means of conrol.

BOY STARTS FIRE

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Herbert C. Moore told firemen yesterday her 2½-year-old son spilled lighter fluid in an upstairs bedroom, and ignited it, causing a blaze that destroyed two rooms and imperiled himself, five other children, and his mother.

Caused by Drought

Smaller Crop of Wheat Seen for Marion Area

A smaller crop of wheat is expected in Marion County this year, according to Frank Montgomery of the Marion County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

For the first time in several years, there is a wheat allotment effective in Marion County. County farmers last fall were permitted to plant only 21,032 acres in wheat.

First harvesting of wheat this year is expected in about 10 days or two weeks.

Montgomery based his prediction for a lower yield this year on the drought last fall which kept much of the grain from growing after it was first planted.

He said the yield should be about 25 bushels to the acre this spring, compared to about 35 bushels last year. This figure is still above the 10-year average for Marion County, which is 22 bushels to the acre.

Price for this year's crop depends upon the amount which can fall under price supports. Montgomery said if most of the wheat is supported by the government at the present parity price of $2.24 a bushel, the bidding price should rise. At present, buyers are bidding only $1.65 per bushel on July delivered wheat.

Storage facilities are "very tight" according to Montgomery. He said most of the wheat stored in local elevators last year has not moved.

No relief for the situation is in sight. Spokesmen at local elevators said very few promises of storage space were being made to farmers in the area. They said main terminals were buying mainly on a cash basis, rather than storing wheat for the government.

Some farmers have sufficient storage space on their farms to enable them to store most of their wheat. However, others will be forced to sell their crop on the open market, which will result in a lower price.

Allotments were put on the wheat crop in 1950. When the Korean War broke out though, the allotments were lifted and farmers were allowed to produce what they could.

Last time allotments and marketing quotas were enforced in the county was in 1949. The first allotments were put in effect in 1940, when the government began its program of controls.

If the 21,032 acres of wheat produce an average yield of 25 bushels as predicted by Montgomery, it would result in a crop of 525,800 bushels.

Around the Farm Beat

Four Marysville farmers have outstanding Holsteins which recently completed lactations through the Herd Improvement registry program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The farmers, pounds of butterfat and pounds of milk are: Chris Boerger and sons, 625, 16,198; Bouic Brothers, 890, 20,330; Emerson Boerger, 558, 17,412; Chris Boerger and sons, 547, 16,196; and Leo Rausch and son, 545, 15,558. Production of the Bouic Brothers Holstein was 3¾ times the average U.S. cow.

Richard Lawrence of Marion and Max Conklin of Delaware also had outstanding cows. Lawrence's gave 577 pounds of butterfat and 17,252 pounds of milk while Conklin's gave 573 pounds of butterfat and 16,413 pounds of milk.

The Forest Glain and Supply Co. has recently installed a corn sheeler, conveyors, elevator, cob blower and truck hoist at its new building on North Warner St. in Forest.

Rated at 1,200 bushels per hour, the new sheller and connecting equipment permits the farmer to bring in a load of ear corn on his wagon or truck, have it dumped into a pit by the overhead hoist, and returned to a waiting wagon or truck shelled and separated from the cobs which are blown to a special overhead bin.

A registered Holstein - Friesian bull owned by Bouic Brothers of Marysville has been honored as a "Silver Medal Type Sire" by the Holstein - Friesian Association of America. The award is given for a bull's ability to transmit to his daughters highly desirable characteristics of body conformation.

A registered Guernsey cow, Tagalong's Gem, owned by Leonard A. Gottfried, Upper Sandusky, O., has completed an official Advanced Registry record of 10,939 pounds of milk and 530 pounds of fat on two times daily milking for 3,050 days.

"Gem" is the daughter of the outstanding Guernsey sire, Welcome-In Forward's Noble, that has 10 tested daughters in the Performance Register of The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

This record was supervised by the Ohio State University, and was reported to the American Guernsey Cattle Club for approval.

Trefoil Stands Among Topics For Field Day

Discussion of Newer Legume Scheduled at Experimental Station

Ohio farmers will be told how to raise good stands of birdsfoot trefoil at a forage crops field day to be held at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station Friday, July 9.

One of the newer, popular legumes, birdsfoot trefoil has the qualities that give it permanence, high yield, and reliability.

"Trefoil was once considered a risky crop," says R. R. Davis, station agronomist. "But with the information now available, Buckeye farmers can seed it with confidence and be sure of getting a productive pasture the following year."

Davis points out that inoculation is an important step in getting good stands of birdsfoot trefoil. Companion crops such as small grains, grasses, and other legumes, also time and rate of seeding, and seed bed preparation are important.

Farmers attending Hay and Pasture Day on July 9 will see experimental plots of trefoil and will have a chance to consult agronomy specialists regarding its culture.

Other features planned for the field day event include talks and demonstrations on grass silage, emergecy forage crops, rotational vs continuous grazing, band seeding, wide row corn, and numerous other forage crop topics.

Director L. L. Rummell will be one of the principal speakers during the afternoon session. Tour chairmen are M. A. Bachtell and Cecil Lamb, station agronomists.

One of the highlights of the morning tour will be a visit to the station's pasture farm which is a model of efficiency and high production. The entire tour program includes over 20 stops at which points some of the state's leading extension and research agronomy specialists will speak to visiting farmers.

Registration for Hay and Pasture Day begins at 10 a.m. EST.

Good Soybean Crop Forecast For Crawford

BUCYRUS — A better than average yield of soybeans and a good wheat crop is in prospect for Crawford County farmers this year, County Agriculture Agent Russell L. Miller says.

The outlook for three other crops is less promising. The hay yield is down, the oats crops is expected to be under estimates, and there has been some damage to planted corn, according to Miller.

The corn has been damaged somewhat by fertilizer burn from the dry weather, and cut worms and wire worms also have done some damage. Miller estimates the 1954 corn production in the county will total about 2,888,000 bushels.

The wheat fields have made an excellent recovery and now are in good condition although the ground was extremely dry at planting time and there was little moisture during the early winter months. The county's wheat production is estimated this year at about one million bushels.

Heavy rains are responsible for predicted decline in the oats crop, which is expected to total about 890,000 bushels, he said. A soybean crop yield of about 4,451,200 is expected and the hay yield will run about 53,210 tons.

Modern Ohio Farmer Works Less Than Dad

Today's Ohio farmer works 25 per cent less than his father did and produces 40 per cent more. He uses an average of 4,900 kilowatt hours of electricity a year, which is about twice the national average, according to John Hilt, chairman of the Rural Sales Committee of The Ohio Electric Utility Institute.

It has been 28 years since the first rural experimental line in Ohio was built southwest of Marysville by investor-owned electric utilities and Ohio State University to serve 13 farms. Today, practically all of the more than 280,000 farms in the state have electricity.

Soil Work Helps Williams' Corn Yield

CONSERVATION PRACTICES have paid off handsomely for Ralph Williams of near Prospect who has tripled the corn yield from his farm and also increased the yield from his other crops since beginning the practices in 1947.

ABOVE: Corn on the Williams farm was almost shoulder high last week. This is a scene of his north field looking toward his house on U. S. Route 23, south of Marion. Williams expects to harvest about 100 bushels per acre from his 13½-acre field.

BELOW: Williams is almost lost in a sea of wheat which is nearing the ripening stage. He got 40 bushels per acre last year and expects about the same this season despite drought conditions existing at planting time last fall.

Practice of Conservation Brings Big Increase For Farmer

A hike in yield from 35 bushels of corn per acre to one of 100 bushels per acre has been made on the farm of Ralph F. Williams of near Prospect since he began using soil conservation practices.

In 1935, Williams was planting 35 acres in corn to get about 1,200 bushels of corn. Last year, he planted 12.5 acres and harvested 1,300 bushels.

He attributes the success of his farm to following methods recommended by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. He said the fertilizer he now uses and the five-year rotation program he follows are the main factors in the increase in his yields.

CORN IS NOT the only crop which has improved since conservation practices were started. Oats and wheat have both taken a terrific jump in production since 1947 when he became the 37th person in Marion County to have a conservation plan for his farm.

Last year he harvested 94 bushels of oats per acre. A testing expert has predicted a yield of 80 bushels per acre for this year, but Williams said he felt certain the actual yield would surpass the forecast.

Even soil conservation experts were fooled by the success which Williams has had. They predicted he would get a top yield of about 70 bushels of corn per acre after several years under conservation methods.

However, Williams says the fertilizer recommended for his use has produced far more than anyone hoped for.

LAST YEAR Williams harvested 40 bushels of wheat per acre. This year, he said the outlook was for an even higher yield.

Williams is now in the process of switching his livestock from dairy to beef production. He plans to maintain between 25 and 30 head of cattle on his 80 acre farm. The farmer said that working alone on his farm made the switch necessary. He is married, but has no children.

Before Williams started soil conservation practices, he kept his cattle on one permanent pasture field. Now they switch from field to field as the five-year rotation plan. At present, the field formerly used as pasture is being used to produce the corn.

WILLIAMS SAID the plan formulated by the Soil Conservation Service has made his farming chores much easier. He said he is now able to move cattle from one field to another merely by opening gates, whereas he used to have to lead them down the road and into the field he wished to use.

He is extremely pleased by his results so far and expects to continue to use any suggestions which might be made in the future by the conservation service.

Williams is a member f the Bethlehem Grange and is a past master of that organization.

Elevator Receives First Wheat Load

The first wheat harvested in the Marion area was brought into the Gist Elevator near Caledonia Tuesday afternoon. Wayne Cochran of near Edison brought in one small truckload of wheat, according to elevator officials.

Moisture content of the first load was 15½, one and one-half points over the accepted best content. Test weight was 58 pounds per bushel.

Officials at the elevator said Cochran had about 13 acres on the field he is now harvesting. The first load was brought in between 3:30 and 4 p.m. Tuesday.

As tractors replaced animal power, 75 million acres once used to grow feed for horses and mules became available to grow human food.

Red Raspberry Yields Aided by Mulch System

WOOSTER — An Ohio horticulturist says that using a straw mulch system of soil management in an experimental planting of red raspberries had increased the yields nearly 1,000 pints an acre.

R. G. Hill of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station said this additional yield would result in an increased income of approximately $200 an acre in most seasons.

Maintaining the red raspberry planting under mulch eliminated costs of cultivation, seeding the cover crops, and much of the cost of weed control. These savings would generallly more than offset the cost of mulch materials.

In addition to increased yields, berries were larger and cleaner and picking conditions were improved where the mulch system was used, Hill observed.

Clues Meager In Murder of Doctor's Wife

Husband, Injured in Attack, Still Unable To Give Clear Account

CLEVELAND (AP)—His beaten neck braced by a metal and leather support, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard hoped today to attend the funeral of his wife, Marilyn, 31. Three days after her pretty face was hacked viciously by a killer, police still lacked important clues in the crime.

After the private funeral, Deputy Sheriff Carl Rossbach will try to question the 30-year-old osteopathic neuro-surgeon who thus far has been able to give only a vague, sometimes incoherent account.

Need His Help

The police must depend heavily on the doctor's help for clues to the slayer who beat his victim mercilessly in her bed at the Sheppards' big house in suburban Bay Village along Lake Erie's shore.

Rossbach said none of the neighbors he interviewed reported seeing or hearing anything suspicious at the house last Sunday morning in the period from a half - hour after midnight until a half-hour before sunrise. The Sheppards had neighbors visiting until after midnight, and dawn was beginning to break when friends answered the doctor's desperate call for help.

The deputy sheriff said he intended also to question the Sheppards' 7-year-old son, Sam Jr., today. The boy slept in a room adjacent to the bedroom while the killer rained 25 blows on the head of his mother. She apparently threw up her arms and hands to cover her face, for her wrist was lacerated and her little finger broken. Skull fractures caused her death, Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said.

Gerber spent two hours yesterday interviewing Dr. Richard A. Sheppard, father of the osteopath, and Dr. Stephen Sheppard, Samuel's brother.

They told the coroner the slain woman's husband was not yet in condition to be questioned, and pomised "complete co-operation" for future questioning. A couple of days would not change matters, they explained.

Concussion of Spine

A Western Reserve University doctor said Dr. Sheppard suffered from a concussion of the spine and his upper left side was numb. During earlier questioning, Dr. Sheppard said he was struck on the neck by someone as he ran upstairs from the living room when he was dozing on a couch when he heard his wife scream.

His brother told reporters the injured man had been punched, choked and bludgeoned on the head and neck and that it would have been impossible to self-inflict such a beating.

Four previous questionings had caused Dr. Sam Sheppard's condition to worsen, his brother said, and "he was not himself."

From talks with his brother, Dr. Stephen Sheppard said he learned the husband heard screams and thuds in his wife's bedroom while fighting an intruder on the stairway. That version would put two intruders in the house.

Aim Is Safety

Chamber Unit Working To Draft Building Code

Establishment of a set of rules for adequate, reliable and safe building practice in Marion is the aim of a subcommittee of the Chamber of Commerce now engaged in drafting a proposed city building code.

Organized early this year, the subcommittee is a part of the Civic Affairs Committee of the Chamber. It has a membership of nine under the chairmanship of S. W. Kuhner.

THE CODE will serve to set the minimum requirements for new homes, business buildings, and factories or, the remodeling of these units, Kuhner said.

Under the code, an inspection would be made to insure that all building projects complied with the minimum requirements, but there would be no specifications that only certain materials could be used in the construction.

"New materials which are devised and meet with the approval of construction experts would not be restricted from use in Marion under terms of the code," he explained. Neither would the code be designed to specify who would do the construction work, he added.

Recalling that similar Chamber subcommittees have prepared proposed building codes three times in the last 10 years, he said he felt they were not adopted mainly because the public was not properly educated to the need for them.

MAIN PURPOSE of such a code is to insure that all new and remodeled buildings of all types within the city limits will meet with certain minimum requirements for the benefit of all citizens of the community, he said.

Hope of the committee is that it may design a code for Marion which will "protect the public interest" and yet meet with the approval of all concerned, particularly the various building trades.

To help insure this, the committee is moving slowly, studying each move thoroughly before taking its next step, Kuhner said.

The committee is also studying copies of the National Building Code, the National Electric Code, and the American Standard Plumbing Code as possible basis for the Marion code.

Kuhner noted that both the National Building Code and the National Electric Code are recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters for adoption by all cities. He said that all three of the national codes have been accepted as standards and adoptions of them are in general use throughout the nation.

ONE REASON for continuing local efforts to formulate an acceptable code is because national policy of the Chamber of Commerce is for local units to investigate national codes for adaptability on the local level, Kuhner said.

Since its formation, the building code subcommittee, has held one general meeting. The three national codes were discussed briefly but no official action taken, Kuhner said. However, it was noted that an attempt is being made to change present Ohio law to permit the adoption of the national standard codes without the necessity of advertising them word for word as is now required, he said. If this change is made in state statutes, a considerable part of the expense involved in local adoption of building codes will be eliminated, helping to insure their passage by local governments, he said.

In an attempt to get the necessary approval of all groups for the proposed building code, the subcommittee plans to hold a series of meetings soon with other interested group, such as the Marion Homebuilders Association, the plumbers association, the electrical contractors association and civic organizations. Proposed provisions of the code would be explained and discussed at these meeetings and if necessary altered to make them adaptable to local conditions, according to Kuhner.

AS TENTATIVELY proposed by the committee, the code would in effect be three separate codes, but all administered by same city office of inspector. The three codes embodied in one would be the national building code, national electric code and the American standard plumbing code. Kuhner said that the plumbing code is sponsored by the American Public Health Association and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Pointing out that such a code would be an exercise of the police power of the local government, Kuhner said that it would require a means of inspection and enforcement if it were to be effective.

Some of the requirements of the plumbing section of the code would be the use of adequate fittings, maximum number of fittings connected to the drains, a positive prohibition against emptying sanitary sewage into storm water sewers and drains, and provision of adequate traps and drains.

The electrical code would require proper wiring with adequate sized interrupting or fusing devices, and requirements of safe circuits and equipment in hazardous area.

THE BUILDING CODE portion would likely limit the size of the construction based on its proposed purpose, in addition to the plumbing and heating code requirements, and would set safety limits on the size of the footing of a house or other building based on the size.

Kuhner pointed out that much remains to be done in developing the code and for this reason the committee plans to meet once each month to discuss problems and their solutions.

In addition to Kuhner, other members of the committee are: C. L. Baxter, James Burris, Louis Conkle, John Courtright Jr., Don Cuthbert, C. E. Shearer and L. M. Sager.

American-Style Political Dinners Are Flop in Japan

TOKYO (AP)— Japanese politicos are exhibiting an unseasonal frost towards an American-style fund-raising dinner, cooked up to finance a merger of the three conservative political parties.

In money-tight Japan, where Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's Liberal party (conservative) sponsors a stark austerity plan, the $31-a-plate dinner with a $6 rebate gimmick is on the hot griddle.

But it's not so much the cost that fries the critics. It's the frivolity of such lagniappe as cocktails and night club acts which one newspaper charged would turn the dinner into a "cabaret Christmas party."

For $31 less the $6 refund, the Japan News said, people want to hear speeches, preferably profound.

Strike Threatens Las Vegas Hotels

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The seven lavish hotel-casinos on the Las Vegas Strip are likely to close today because of a scheduled strike of 100 AFL maintenance workers.

President Frank Legion of the AFL Central Labor Council said picket lines will be established today and that 3,200 other AFL hotel employes will observe them.

Roy Flippin, representing the luxury hotels, said the hotels will shut down if picket lines are established. He said the hotels will not pay the 15 per cent wage increases sought.

The Voice Marches On

Hardly a man is now alive—in my own age group, at least—who has not heard Westbrook Van Voorhis declaim those famous lines: "Time — marches on!" and "as it must to all men, death came last week to. . ." The March of Time marched on for 23 long years but, as it must to all things death came to its doors, too; the staff was disbanded and the office closed. Last person to leave: Westbrook Van Voorhis.

J. CROSBY

However, the famous voice of doom—Van Voorhis couldn't even say "It's a nice day today" without giving the statement a quality of terrible significance — is now narrating "Justice" which is based on the files of the Legal Aid Society.

IF YOUR THIRST for portentious utterance was not slaked by 23 years of the March of Time, you might tune in on "Justice" (NBC-TV 8:30 p.m. EDT Thursdays) and you will hear the celebrated larynx proclaim such lines as: "To many who walk the streets of a city, living by its laws, regulated by its standards, justice is a word easily distorted in the tapestry of human events. Yet never is it wholly lost. Its fabric of truth emerges even in those who cannot see it directly. For justice is a light and the light uncovers many things."

Every time I hear Van Voorhis intone lines like that I feel like swiping Jackie Cooper's second act curtain line in a very funny play called "The King of Hearts." Mr. Cooper, after listening to a long speech full of arrant hogwash, rises to his feet, lowers his head reverently and says: "We will now hear the national anthem."

VAN VOORHIS STILL LOOKS back on his 23 years of the March of Time with great affection and he harbors the wistful and probably forlorn hope that the March of Time has not closed up shop forever. "I don't think the March of Time will ever die," he says. "It's part of the lives of two generations. One of these days a man will come along and use the perfect formula for news and we'll be back again."

The formula, in case you've forgotten, was to bring to a news story an overwhelming amount of background research and analysis, an expensive and timeconsuming business.

The March of Time was a half hour radio show from 1931 to 1946, on movie screens from 1935 to 1951 and on TV in 1952 and 1953. In all those years Van Voorhis was on camera only a few times, interviewing people. Mostly he was just a voice and the voice sometimes got him in hot water.

He was sued, along with Time, Inc., by Gerald L. K. Smith and Huey Long for defamation of character. The case never got to court. Years ago, when Van Voorhis was covering the Hauptmann trial on radio, a girl he'd never laid eyes on and has not laid eyes on yet fell in love with his doom - laden voice and bombarded him with letters and cookies. After the trial, she brought suit for breach of promise.

NATURALLY THAT TRIAL didn't come off either. But it just goes to show what silly ideas people can get from a voice in their own living room. In those days, Van Voohris pointed out, a radio voice was a very personal thing, especially for housewives. "After her husband went to work," he said, "you were with her all day long."

In March of Time's 23-year history, Van Voorhis never took a vacation and the series never made a nickel for Time, Inc. But it was wonderful promotion for the magazine. As a person, Van Voorhis bears no resemblance to the doom-laden voice. He's a quiet, pleasant guy who likes to raise sheep on his Connecticut ranch.

For years, at parties, people have been trying to get him to help break the party up and start the guests toward the door by proclaiming: "Time — marches on!" He won't though. Claims he can't turn the voice on that easily.

2 Marion Girl Scouts To Appear on TV Show

Miss Carolyn Rowley and Miss Glenda Utley of Marion will be guest cooks on Jeanne Shea's Kitchen Fair television program Thursday at 11 a.m. over Station WBNS, Channel 10, in Columbu.

Both girls are members of Girl Scout Troop 2, sponsored by the King's Daughters of Epworth Methodist Church. They will be accompanied by their troop leader, Miss Dorothy Snyder, and assistant leader, Mrs. Iva Crawford, and several other Girl Scouts.

They plan to prepare several recipes they use at camp-outs, featuring "pots-of-gold," "angels on horseback," banana boats and apple butter cake.

WALKOUT ENDS

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — A 13-day walkout of 145 employes of the W. O. Larson Foundry Co. at nearby Grafton has ended. Members of the AFL International Molders and Foundry Workers local went back to work yesterday after striking in protest over disciplinary action taken by the company against four employees for unsatisfactory production.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market dropped off in a mild reaction today after two sessions of strong advance.

The fall by early afternoon was mostly fractional but extended to around two points in some instances. At the same time there were good plus signs in various areas.

Trading was brisk at a rate around two million shares for the day, but the pace was nothing like yesterday's high 2,560,000 shares chalked up in a rising market.

The market started higher, extending its gains of the previous two days, but by mid-morning profit-taking began to take its toll.

Steels and motors were quite active and generally lower. Aircrafts, which with the steels were leaders in yesterday's rise, were mixed today. Railroads were mostly lower. Chemicals slumped.

Radio - Television held higher along with the farm implements, rubbers, coppers, airlines, and motion pictures. Gains in these areas were not particularly robust.

Among lower stocks were Santa Fe, Cities Service, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, General Electric, U. S. Steel, General otors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, and United Aircraft.

Higher were such issues as Republic Steel, Goodyear, Boeing, National Distillers, Radio Corp., Anaconda Copper, Dow Chemical, Baltimore & Ohio, and RKO Theatres.

Ohio Fuel Gas Adopts Budget Payment Plan

A new budget payment plan designed to ease the impact of cold weather heating bills was offered to Ohio Fuel Gas Co. customers here today. They may now pay heating costs in ten monthly installments — September through June.

Advantage of the plan is that it eliminates the cold weather rise in heating bill payments which occurs when many other living costs are also higher, according to C. L. Baxter, local Ohio Fuel manager.

Budget payments will begin with gas bills due in September. The company is now accepting applications.

There are about 55 million vehicles on U. S. roads—72 per cent more than in 1940.

Red Judge in Japan Faced With Ouster

TOKYO (AP) — Impeachment proceedings opened today against a judge accused of opening his court with Communist songs and allowing Red defendants to "pray for a Communist victory in Korea."

A Diet committee is conducting the hearing against Judge Tetsuzo Susaki of Osaka.

The prayers for a Red victory allegedly occurred last July at the trial of persons accused of participating in a Communist 1952 May Day riot.

Since World War II, more than 23,000 new houses have been built in Honolulu.

Name Corrected

Mrs. Jo Ann Teets of 372 E. George St. is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude V. Burke of 440 Avondale Ave., who will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Thursday. Her name was spelled incorrectly in an article in The Star Tuesday.

The name of one of Mr. Burke's sisters was unintentionally omitted. She is Mrs. Nellie Blair of 428 Avondale Ave.

The Salton Sea in Southern California was formed in 1905-1906 when the Colorado River broke through its levees and is now maintained at a stable level by drainage of irrigation waters which balances evaporation.

Japan in Market For Secret Weapon

TOKYO (AP) — Japan is in the market for a good secret weapon — if someone has one for sale.

Director Tokutaro Kimura of Japan's new self-defense force said today the army is interested in a guided missile and would like to buy the manufacturing license for such a weapon.

Other members of the defense board pointed out, however, that guided missiles still are rated top secret and once sold on the international market they can hardly be considered secret.

In 1900 the U.S. auto industry produced 4,192 cars.

DID YOU SEE KAREN'S DAUGHTER, REX?
FOR ABOUT SIXTY SECONDS!
I DON'T UNDERSTAND!
I DON'T EITHER, JUNE. I BARELY STARTED TO EXAMINE THE CHILD WHEN THE GOVERNESS WALKED IN AND TOLD ME THE EXAMINATION WAS EXHAUSTING HEIGH!
WHAT DID KAREN HAVE TO SAY ABOUT THAT?
THAT'S WHAT FLOORED ME, JUNE! KAREN SAID NOTHING—AND PERMITTED THE GOVERNESS TO TAKE OVER!
I FELT ABOUT THIS BIG! SHE COULDN'T HAVE SCOOTED ME OUT OF THAT APARTMENT ANY FASTER IF SHE HAD DONE IT BODILY!

Top Mediator Quitting, Labor Pressure Cited

Whitley P. McCoy Due To Be Replaced by Joseph F. Finnegan

By JAMES PREE

WASHINGTON (NANA) — There is more than meets the eye in the coming shift in the directorship of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Director Whitley P. McCoy has announced that he plans to resign in the next few weeks. But what McCoy, an Eisenhower Democrat from Alabama, did not say is that it is virtually a case of qitting before he is fired.

Sparking the situation is the fact that some important persons in the administration have designs on the job. Secretary of Labor James Mitchell wants the FMCS post for an old friend and fellow New Yorker, Joseph F. Finnegan, New York City attorney. So, evidently, does Sen. Irving Ives (R., N.Y.).

Post Created in 1947

The mediation and conciliation service was created by the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947. It attempts to minimize or prevent labor troubles by assisting both labor and management to settle their arguments. It maintains lists of arbitrators from which one may be selected by the parties to a labor dispute. The arbitrator's decision is final and binding.

Like several of his recent predecessors, Mitchell believes that FMCS, an independent agency, should be under the Department of Labor.

Legislation calling for absorption of the FMCS by labor very likely would have been sent to Congress earlier this year, but the White House felt such a move would complicate its efforts to workout Taft - Hartley amendments.

Next best thing to having actual control over an agency, however, is to have a close associate or friend run it. Thus, Secretary Mitchell is willing to settle for Finnegan, whom Mitchell knew when he (Mitchell) was a department-store executive in New York. Finnegan is understood to have had some experience as an arbitrator of labor disputes in the department-store field.

McCoy Is Veteran

McCoy, himself a veteran arbitrator, was made head of the FMCS on July 17, 1953. He is on leave of absence from the University of Alabama, where he has been a professor of law for many years.

Earlier in the year, McCoy resisted Secretary Mitchell's suggestions that FMCS be put under the Labor Department. When Mitchell began lining up Ives and other Republicans in a move to pick McCoy's successor, the Alabamian saw the handwriting on the wall. Being an Eisenhower Democrat, he could expect no support from the all-Democrat Alabama delegation in Congress. And, even if he could get Democratic members of Congress behind him, it would mean very little with Republicans controlling both the administration and Congress.

Therefore, McCoy has chosen to leave without putting up a battle.

The FMCS director's job pays $18,000 a year.

HONORED. Gina Lollobrigida, Italian actress, was awarded the Silver Ribbon — Italian version of Hollywood's Oscar—in Rome. Gina, whose portrayal of peasant girls has elevated her to stardom, won the award for her role in "Bread, Love and Fantasy." Italian movie writers judged her performance the best by an actress.

Chief Charged In Auto Crash

Car Collides With Columbus Patrolman's

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP) — As soon as Police Chief George W. Scholer reported back to work yesterday, after sick leave, he was arrested. The charge was failure to yield right of way during a two-car collision here June 14.

The chief had been recovering at his home from five fractured ribs received in the accident. He was released on $25 bond and ordered to appear next Tuesday in Municipal Court.

Policeman Gerald H. Malone, 29, the driver of the other car, rereceived a fractured skull. The car crashed as both men were returning home from their day's police duties.

Army Unit Wants Buffalo for Mascot

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A U. S. Army battalion in Germany wants a buffalo for mascot. It probably won't get one, though.

In a letter to Gov. Howard Pyle, soldiers with the 510th Heavy Tank Battalion asked for one of Arizona's remaining bison to go with the outfit's buffalo crest.

"It would really help morale," one soldier said.

Pyle passed the request on to the Arizona Game and Fish Department, where a spokesman said shipping a Buffalo to Germany would be "too expensive."

SUMO SPEED

TOKYO (UP) — Japan's sumo wrestlers, some weighing as much as 300 pounds, held an athletic meet in Tokyo and racked up such respectable marks as 27.9 seconds for the 200-meter run and 10.7 seconds for the 70-meter sprint.

Repeal Move Planned

New Axle-Mile Tax Fight Anticipated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Efforts to revise or repeal Ohio's axle-tax on trucks looms as a major issue in the 1955 legislature. Members seeking re-election generally agree to that.

But Sen. Thomas Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs asserts it will be more than that. He foresees a battle royal. And the sandy-haired son of the late U. S. Sen. Simeon D. Fess expects to be in the thick of it.

Backed by Lausche

The 1953 Republican-controlled legislature enacted the levy to help pay for a half-billion dollar highway building program. Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche supported the principle of the tax based on the weight of a truck and the distance it travels.

Lausche has called for time to let the levy prove itself but truckers and those in their corner claim the tax hurts too much to wait.

Under the tax, it costs trucks with more than two axles from one-half to 2½ cents a mile to use Ohio roads.

On the subject of the truck tax, Fess currently is saying "I told you so" to anyone who will listen. A Republican, he seeks re-election in the 5th-6th senatorial district composed of Greene, Fayette, Clinton, Highland and Ross counties. He formerly served four terms in the Ohio House from 1945 through 1952.

Fess recalls his speech opposing the axle tax on the day the state Senate passed it. "And what I said then has come true," he insists.

In addition, Fess reported that a trucker was refused a refund on a duplicate payment made by mistake on grounds the law failed to provide for such refunds.

But State Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers says the refund of more than $200 will be made soon. He said the law provides for refunds on payments for more truck axles than actually used. He explained that duplicate payments fall within that refund category.

Speech Highlights

Fees points to state reports showing that axle tax revenue from Oct. 1, its effective date, to mid-June totaled only $5,813.79. Administrative costs and refunds come out of that.

Here is what Fess said in his Senate speech last year:

"The highway department has said the bill will produce 19 million dollars. In the hearings before the taxation committee, considerable doubt was cast upon the accuracy of those figures. In New York, before their weight-distance tax was adopted, revenue estimates were made on about the same basis as those submitted to us. They were told in New York they would get 20 million dolairs or more per year. But they have been able to collect only about half that amount. Why deceive ourselves?"

Recalling that he warned against administration, collection and auditing difficulties, Fess asserted his latest information indicated it may take Ohio nearly two years to work out those problems.

The senator said 15 states have taken retaliatory action against Ohio because of the tax and recalled this part of his speech:

"If this bill must be adopted, we should make doubly sure that it has an adequate reciprocity clause. In that way only can we prevent adverse effects of multiple state taxation upon the free flow of commerce. In that way only can we avoid bringing down upon the citizens of our state the retaliatory action of other states."

Fess said the Ohio Trucking Assn named six firms that have moved to other states because of the axle tax and reciprocity problems. Three of them formerly were in Akron. The others were in Cincinnati, Steubenville and Columbus.

He said other trucking firms have left the state but do not want it generally known yet for fear of reprisal from tax officials.

Fess then quoted this portion of his speech:

"Mark my words, I repeat that if this bill passes in its present form you can expect the large trucking companies to move out of the state and the smaller trucking companies to go out of business."

Bringing himself up to date, Fess observed "That is just what some small truckers have done."

Television Writers Want Union Shop

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Executive Board of the Television Writers of America says it will meet tonight to set a strike date unless the TV networks grant a union shop and make a satisfactory offer for scripts.

Negotiations between TWA and the three networks have been under way since October 1953. Union officials say the networks and TWA still are far apart on minimum scales for scripts.

The union seeks $715 for a half-hour commercial show, $500 for a half-hour sustaining show and $425 for a half-hour sustaining adaptation. TWA says the network offers $425, $345 and $215 respectively.

McCarthy Backs Away From CIA Investigation

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Sen. McCarthy, with time for meditation on his 18-day vacation, seems to have decided to back away from the Central Intelligence Agency, the American superspy agency.

He knows, if he didn't, he'd have to knock heads with President Eisenhower, a contest in which he might not win and for which he may not feel himself ready yet.

Wouldn't Help Party

Besides, coming on the eve of the congressional elections in November, a fight between McCarthy and the White House could hardly do the Republicans any good.

If the Wisconsin senator had tried to hold public hearings on the CIA, which he has charged was infiltrated with Communists, the President is almost certain to have refused to let any CIA employes testify.

A public exploration into CIA would be more than the Russians had any right to hope for. CIA's operations are so secret the money it gets is concealed, even from all but a handful of the members of Congress who have to vote for it.

McCarthy, never a man to use up all his energy on one fight at a time, said during the hearings on his dispute with Army officials that Communists had crawled into the CIA. It wasn't the first time he mentioned something like that.

In fact, he said his staff had been investigating CIA since last October. CIA Director Allen Dulles called McCarthy's charges false and said he had asked McCarthy last October for any information he had on CIA but never got an answer.

On July 4, Independence Day, former President Hoover announced he had named retired Gen. Mark Clark to head a "task force" to study CIA's structure and administration.

Heads Commission

Hoover heads a commission which Eisenhower appointed months ago to study government operations in general. Its primary job is to suggest ways to improve efficiency and cut costs. Because of the way the commission does its work — with few public hearings — Clark's job would be carried out quietly.

It is possible the administration thought it could head off McCarthy by having Hoover's commission examine CIA, if not for Communists at least for efficiency. Clark, asked about this, said he saw "no connection."

Shortly after McCarthy returned to the capital yesterday he talked on TV and to reporters about the CIA. It was a very careful piece of talking.

He said he would turn over to the Hoover Commission the information on which he based his charge of Communist infiltration of CIA. This might seem to indicate he was going to let the Hoover Commission handle the CIA by itself.

But — McCarthy didn't say so flatly. This gives him room for maneuver in case he wants to maneuver.

The CIA is so secret it's impossible to guess all it's up to. But it's probably trying to cause all the trouble it can for the Communists overseas. The public may never know whether it had a hand in the riots of the East Germans against the Communist masters last summer or in the recent revolt of Guatemalans against their Red-tinged government.

It may be a safe bet that CIA agents around the world were mixed up in the past year's desertions to the West of Russian agents.

Set Up in 1947

The CIA is the American government's cloak-and-dagger operation, set up by Congress in 1947 when it had become clear at last this country's real relationship with Russia would be at best a cold war lasting perhaps for generations.

The idea that there might be some Communist infiltration of CIA is not new. As long ago as the fall of 1952 retired Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, now under secretary of state but then CIA director, said he felt "morally certain" Communists had "infiltrated practically every security agency of the government," including CIA.

He said he didn't know of any in the CIA, had tried to find any who might have got in, but just thought that since they were "clever" you'd have to assume some got in.

Clerk in Rival Store Trips Up Haberdasher

MALDEN, Mass. (AP)—A haberdasher is charged with suspicion of larceny because the young saleswoman of a rival store noticed his cut-rate prices.

Miss Joan Lack, 16, spotted a sign in the store advertising polo shirts at three for a dollar.

She told her boss, Martin Bronstein, 42, that "someone's beating your prices."

Bronstein's wife investigated and found that the polo shirts resembled those stolen from the Bronstein warehouse.

The proprietor of the cut-rate store was arrested on suspicion.

Police quoted him as saying he bought the goods from several men identified as former Bornstein employes.

Tree No Good as Fire Escape, Defendant Told

BOSTON (AP) — An apartment house owner protested in court yesterday that building a fire escape would "just make it that much easier for crooks" and suggested a tree outside the building as a substitute.

Municipal Court Judge Jennie Loitman Barron did not accept the substitute and found the defendant, Nishan S. Bagdigian, guilty of failing to provide a suitable fire exit. The judge ordered him to provide one within a week.

Hungary's No. 2 Red Relieved of His Position

VIENNA (AP) — Ernoe Geroe, Hungary's No. 2 Communist, has been relieved of his job as first deputy prime minister and minister of the interior, Radio Budapest announced last night.

Appointed as new minister for interior was Laszlo Piros, who reportedly succeeded Gabor Peter as head of the ill-famed Hungarian state secret police, after the latter's purge last year.

Geroe, Radio Budapest said, will be appointed to another important position.

Man Stuck 24 Hours In Gooey Mud of Creek

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Those soft, white hospital sheets felt mighty good to Levi Black, 39, today.

The 200-pound, 6-foot Black was resting up after being stuck for perhaps 24 hours in the gooey mud of Beargrass Creek.

He said he fell into the creek from a railroad trestle.

He thought he fell Saturday, he said at first. Then he wasn't sure. Hospital attendants said they thought it must have been Monday.

In any event, it was a "long time" before some children found him yesterday, Black said.

Man Robbed of $155, Passers-By Pass on By

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ben Cohn, 54-year-old insurance collector, lost $155 and some of his faith in the fellowship of man here yesterday.

Cohn said he was robbed by two hoodlums who attacked him on a sidewalk at 2:30 p.m. while passers-by ignored the whole thing.

"I could see people across the street," he said. "They saw me struggling. I can't get over it. If they only had called the police."

The insurance collector couldn't call police. One of his attackers had his throat caught in an elbow vise. Cohn said he lost $125 of company money and $30 of his own money.

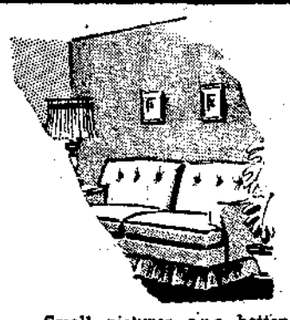
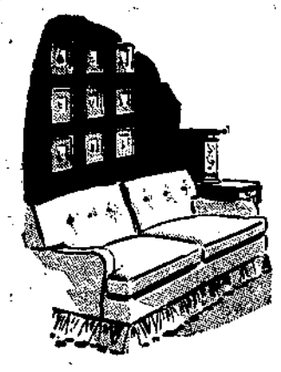
Adding CHARM to YOUR Home

If You Like Pictures

Pictures should be related in size to the wall space where they are to be used. One oversize picture crowded into a small area is just as ineffective as a lot of small, spotty ones plastered around like postage stamps.



Group Them Carefully



Small pictures are better when hung in groups. Try several carefully arranged above a piece of furniture to take the place of a high piece to give balance to the room's composition . . . or try hanging a number of pictures in a horizontal row above a sofa or low bookshelves to relieve too many verticles.

We want you to be SURE about every piece of furniture you buy from us. Sure of the high quality. Sure of the tasteful styling. And sure of the true value. These are the factors upon which our reputation rests and the basis of all our transactions.

Traffic Safety

The new practice of stressing danger on holidays, although it sometimes becomes annoying, apparently has a direct effect.

No one ever can know how many more accidents there might have been during last weekend than there was. From now on, all holidays and especially holiday weekends are going to be signalized by repeated warnings against danger.

The greatest stress will be placed on traffic hazards, because they are the heart of the national safety problem. The problem is shared by every American interested in saving his own life and the lives of others.

The traffic toll of approximately 333 deaths over the weekend, although about 100 below the National Safety Council's estimate of what probably would happen is a matter of personal as well as national concern.

Many times that number of Americans were affected by the fatality toll — families, relatives, friends, employers, employes and so on. The loss was not only personal but national. Perhaps the most vivid way to bring the traffic fatality toll into perspective is to imagine what would happen if 333 persons had been killed and many times that number injured in fireworks accidents last weekend.

The death and maiming of a few dozen persons by Independence Day accidents when fireworks represented the principal hazard brought about the movement for a Safe And Sane Fourth. It appeared doomed to failure for many years.

The campaign for safe and sane holidays may not seem to be making much headway, but give it time. Traffic accidents can be reduced; that has been proved. Eventually, traffic accidents can be eliminated.

Above Reproach

Whatever moralizing may be done about the conviction of Joseph Nunan Jr., once the nation's No. 1 tax collector, on a charge of income tax evasion should be broad enough to cover his whole offense.

Besides Nunan's personal tax complications, which reflected what he had learned about possible loopholes while he was commissioner of internal revenue, were his activities in behalf of some of his clients after he had left the government.

Sen. Williams of Delaware, who was busily taking the wraps off tax scandals in 1952, charged in the U. S. Senate that not a dime had been collected of nearly two million dollars owed to the U.S. Treasury by four of Nunan's tax clients. He and former associates of the Treasury Department had formed a firm that specialized in this work.

The law prohibited former Treasury employes from acting for two years after leaving the government on cases against the government. But it did not prohibit such persons from representing clients being sued by the government. Nor did it prohibit the Treasury Department from issuing special waivers to former employes who wanted to get into tax work.

The tax scandals of 1952 had much to do with the outcome of the election in November of that year. No government can afford to have doubts raised about the integrity of its tax collectors. The Nunan case was one of a series which raised doubts about collectors who had come into power during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. But the taxes that Nunan, himself, did not pay were peanuts compared with the taxes which were never paid by people who paid him well for his expert advice as a former commissioner of internal revenue.

Coalition for Coal?

The subject is not ideal for warm-weather musing, but there is something to muse about, nevertheless, in the statements that have been coming from the coal industry.

The industry's spokesmen say coal is sick, that it needs help, that the government is going to be urged to intervene to help it and that what the coal industry needs most is a slashing reduction in the number of its less efficient producers.

Cut-throat competition in a declining market, the spokesmen say, has made it impossible for any producers but the largest and most efficient to make money. Therefore, they go on to explain, coal needs a coalition. Its component parts should be brought together under central direction. Inefficient producers should be put on the shelf. All production should be handled by the most efficient producers. Coal producers should compete only with coal's rivals, not with one another.

According to a roundup story in last Sunday's New York Times, it is the consensus among coal executives that their industry should be dominated by no more than half a dozen large companies.

With a presidential commission to study coal's problems about to be appointed, it becomes a matter of broad public interest how this one industry expects to be immune to the anti-trust investigations that have plagued all other industries which yielded to economic pressure to eliminate their least efficient units.

Could the government, itself, become a party to a proposal for doing what would be suspected as restraint of trade if it were done without seeking government sanction?

Dangerous Step

By David Lawrence

Admission of Red China to U.N. Could Start War

The big mystery in world affairs today is not that the British government wants to see Red China admitted into the United Nations, but why the issue was raised at this time.

There is nothing new in the British or American positions. Everybody has known for some time that London favors the move and that Washington opposes it.

Why has the matter been given such widespread publicity at the moment, giving rise as it has to formal statements by the Republican leader and Democratic leader of the senate reiterating the American opposition? It is no answer—as Rep. McCormack, Democratic party leader in the House of Representatives, expresses it—that Congress is taking the "initiative" away from the executive branch of the government. To say this is to ignore the true situation, which is that the Department of State was gratified to have the Senate leaders proclaim their views publicly.

The State Department couldn't, in the very nature of things, say anything except in the privacy of diplomatic channels, and this wouldn't get very far toward swaying public opinion either here or abroad.

ACTUALLY THERE wasn't much time given in the Churchill-Eisenhower conference to the discussion of the problem of admitting Red China to the United Nations. It was mentioned only briefly and didn't have the importance of even being made a topic on the agenda.

What, then, was back of it all? The most plausible explanation may be derived from these two points:

1. The British position historically is to play the role of "broker" between the two nations in conflict with each other.

Probably there isn't the flimsiest idea in London that the wishes of the United States with respect to keeping Red China out of the U.N. would be rejected by two-thirds of the members of the United Nations Assembly.

By sticking to the Red China side, the British and perhaps the new French Cabinet become the friends of the Peiping regime. This could mean a whole lot in East-West trade negotiations and other diplomatic moves and could even cause the Moscow government to make concessions to the British and French.

The result, therefore, might bring benefits to the British and French without any substantial harm being done to the objective sought by the United States. For Red China would be kept out of the U.N. anyhow.

2. It is conceivable that London and Paris are totally unaware of the depth of feeling in the United States about Red Chinas aggression. To talk abut the United States withdrawing if the U.N. did admit Red China, its prestige would sink so low in the United States that the absence or presence of the United States delegates in the U.N. would be meaningless.

Once an organization tears up its own pledged word and makes of a treaty a "scrap of paper," there is not much use worrying about how many meetings the American delegates would attend thereafter.

THE TRUTH IS, 40,000 American boys are dead today because they were asked by their government to "repel aggression" in Korea. They gave their lives to what they were told was a great cause—the united action of the United Nations. That organization, moreover, passed in February 1951 a solemn resolution declaring Red China the "aggressor." Nothing has happened since to punish the aggressor.

Because military forces were not permitted to accomplish that purpose, moral force alone remained the best means of ostracising from world councils the government that had prepetrated the crime. Now moral force is collapsing, too.

Nobody here has any quarrel with the people in China but only with the war criminals in Peiping. To accept these evil men as brothers is to tell the people of all of Asia that the West is capitulating.

It would mean that South Korea might then be strangled by Communist infiltration from Red China unless she decides to fight for her life.

A RESUMPTION of fighting would bring new complications for the United States. Japan would be frightened, and the chance to build an army there for Far Eastern defense would be impaired.

Admission of Red China indeed might set off a series of happenings that could bring on a general war. It is a dangerous step. That's why the Congress of the United States is speaking out frankly and bluntly now, and the State Department is not in the least disturbed by such plain talk.

Likewise, there is another meaning conveyed.

If ideals are to be trampled on for the sake of expediency and appeasement, it may be hard to convince the American people that its soldiers should go to Europe to fight a third time.

The support of the American people should be more important to the British and French governments than appeasing the Red China regime. Maybe it will be after the debate is over.

Operation Pigsticker

By Raymond Moley

In a recent article I pointed out that the familiar verse, from St. Mark about how a house divided against itself cannot stand, could not have literal application to the present differences within the Republican party. It certainly has only a faint application to American politics.

I did make the point that party regularity, especially in the organization of Congress, brings the parties together despite all internal differences.

So far as present indications show, both parties are about equally divided within themselves and are likely to remain so.

The proof of this was revealed in a striking way in last week's United States News. That magazine showed the party roll calls on a considerable number of important issues on which Eisenhower has expressed himself for or against.

IN THE SENATE on the Tidelands bill, the Eisenhower side won with 35 Republicans and 21 Democrats. On the Bricker amendment, Eisenhower's opposition was supported by 17 Republicans and 32 Democrats. This was enough to defeat the amendment.

The St. Lawrence Seaway carried with exactly 25 on each side of the aisle. Public housing in a modified form carried with 38 Republicans and 28 Democrats. Funds for Mutual Security carried with 31 Republicans and 37 Democrats.

On the proposed Taft - Hartley amendments, the division reflected two kinds of Democrats who came together to defeat the bill. Radical Democrats opposed it because it was not sufficiently pro - labor. Conservative Democrats wanted to leave well enough alone.

The President's side was supported only by Republicans, and there were not enough to win.

THE MORAL of this is certainly not that Eisenhower is a bipartisan president.

It simply shows that on matters of important principle there are divisions in both parties between what may be called the radical and the conservative viewpoint. It also shows that the old bipartisan conservative bloc that grew up in the Roosevelt days is still alive. And it shows that a solid majority in both houses is conservative.

If the President wants to carry a program through Congress, he will be well advised to make it pretty conservative. On that sort of measure he can count on a considerable majority of Republicans and slightly more than a majority of Democrats.

It is when he listens to his left-wing advisers that he fails to carry his measures through. It is in the conservative course that he can depend upon bipartisan support. Even then he cannot assume that he is a bipartisan president.

IF HE MAKES any such assumption and hopes to win support by offering bait to left-wing Democrats, he will, if he runs in 1956, have a rude awakening.

To go left will lose stalwart Republicans and gain only the momentary support of leftist Democrats. They will be out there behind Stevenson or his like, fighting to destroy any Republican.

This reasoning, I am sure, is not shared by the left-wing Republicans who seem to have Eisenhower's ear. But if he will examine the votes, he can see the fallacy of their advice.

Smoking Abatement

By TRUMAN TWILL

Whether or not tobacco is doing all or any of the things it is suspected of doing by various investigators gathering evidence about its apparent effects on users will be a moot question for some time to come.

Eventually, one of two things will happen.

Either tobacco will be given a clean bill of health, or it will be made available for public consumption with the understanding that excessive use may lead to undesirable and unpleasant consequences. This seems to me to be the logical alternative.

Whatever may or may not be the bad consequences of using tobacco excessively, no one ever claimed there could be any good consequences if it was used excessively. The hard liquor industry long ago wised up to this and began to hammer on the theme of moderation.

That is a point neglected entirely so far by the tobacco industry—that if you are going to use the stuff you should use it with judgment; that it was put on this earth to be a boon to men, not a burden.

When anything dispensable becomes a burden, there is only one thing to do about it. Get rid of it until such a time as it no longer will be a burden any more. Or if it turns out, as it does in some instances, that it cannot be handled comfortably, keep it at arm's length, the same as some of us must do with cucumbers and calf brains the same as some of us must do with alcohol.

The trouble with tobacco has been—and particularly in the form of cigarets—that it has been too easy to use. This has led to the excessive use which may have been having some unfavorable physiological effects along with some annoying psychological effects.

No one likes to feel that he has lost control over anything theoretically under his control, like smoking. This is why even the hardest smokers like to assert they could quit if they wanted to; they are throwing a sop to their ego.

Short of a doctor's order to bolster their resolution, they cannot quit smoking. They know it. Yet the fact is—and they know this too—there is no more to quitting smoking than to quit. It is that simple.

Nothing happens. There are no adverse physiological consequences. The person who quits smoking does not go through the agonies of a drug addict or an alcoholic when the time comes to take the cure. All he has to do is not to smoke any more. If he thinks it would help, he can develop some other habit to take his mind off the one he is abandoning. But that isn't necessary.

In fact, it isn't even necessary to quit in most cases. The same general effect could be gained by working on the same kind of moderation which nearly everybody achieves in the use of everything else that was put on earth to be a boon to mankind.

I began to smoke when I was a kid. I stayed with it until a little more than a year ago, with two non - smoking lapses of several months' duration in the last 10 years. Finally I got tired of fooling with something I had grown tired of and wasn't doing very well; it wasn't fun any more. So more than a year ago, I quit.

Three times in the last few months I have picked up a cigaret and started to smoke it. But the fun wasn't there any more. Maybe it will come back some day. If so, I'll smoke again, in moderation, I hope. By that time the tobacco companies will be preaching moderation.

You can bet on it. They have no more time to lose.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Thomas J. Anderson, a native of Hampshire County, Va., where he was born April 2, 1801, came to Marion in 1825. He engaged in the business of buying and selling livestock, finding the best market at Detroit. Later he became an extensive buyer of furs.

He was commissioned associate judge of Marion County in 1834 by Governor Lucas, serving for a term of seven years. He was reappointed in 1841 and again in 1848. He was justice of the peace for a time and later was made United States deputy collector of internal revenue for Marion County.

God Save the Fourth

By Frank Tripp

This is the annual chapter in a one-man crusade for the restoration of the Fourth of July. Every year I stick my neck out and get nasty letters of disapproval; yet as many from folks who agree.

If an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, I submit that one good old-fashioned Fourth of July would be worth a dozen McCarthy-Army fiascos to impress loyalty on the nation.

We cling to Halloween and New Year's Eve as roistering celebrations. We perpetuate all of the witches, goblins and champagne headaches out of the mythical past —yet the Glorious Fourth, with its historical significance, has become almost forgotten.

THIS GRIPE is predicated upon the lifelong influence of childhood participation back when grownups made something big and important of The Fourth. What oldster can ever forget them, and how he was right in the midst of it all? Participation is the secret.

We don't remember a word that the silver-tongued, spread-eagle orators bellowed from the bunting-draped band stand in the public square.

Their patriotic fervor went right over our heads, but we'll remember to our dying day the rumpus we raised in the neighborhood from the crack of dawn until the last dud Roman candle was picked up next morning on the littered lawn. And we know why we could get away with it, without resorting to textbooks.

THE FOURTH was Young America's day. It was the annual outburst and safety valve for a kind of fervid country love that was ounce taught our children; without ifs, ands, buts or whereases; just pure unadulterated belief in America. And hatred of things and people who compromised with loyalty.

Every cannon cracker symbolized a musket fired at a redcoat, a blast for freedom. Every skyrocket sang a phrase from our national anthem—"the rocket's red glare, bombs bursting in air." Every community bonfire was a blaze of victory over foreign oppression.

Every youngster who as much as fired a cap pistol got a lift as a Minute Man at his own little Lexington and Concord.

The earnestness with which kids now play cops and robbers was exhausted in juvenile dramas out of the history of their country. It clicked and became indelible in their memories.

BEST OF ALL, it was a demonstration to their lukewarm and alien playmates of an Americanism that no "academic freedom" smitten professor can put across in a million years. It was youth in action—something that every boy and girl had to believe if they were to belong.

The Fourth of July then emphasized that there is more to freedom than glib words and phrases, distorted by the new misconceptions of "personal liberty" and "minority rights."

We took away our children's participation in the Fourth of July; stripped it of the part they could understand and enjoy. And they are growing up to ignore the day.

We made the most important anniversary in American history just another red date on the calendar; just another day when the banks and freight houses don't open.

Please God, save the Fourth of July!

Father and Son Dialogues

"Popper, I thought the big aim behind the recent Washington TV quiz show was to oust commies."

"Yes, my son. Every senator climbed into the mike every few minutes to declare himself dedicated to this high purpose."

"Then how come all the talk just now is about ousting the staff members who have been ousting commies?"

"Run out and play ball. I hear the Jones' boy calling you."

-:-

"Wasn't it strange to see Sen. Potter coming out with a verdict that there should be dismissals before the committee had even started to weigh the evidence, Popper?"

"These are strange days, my boy and having an umpire call a decision while the ball was still on the way from the pitcher's box to the plate was something new to me."

"Has Symington come out to deport McCarthy, trade Roy Cohn to the Terre Haute club and have Frank Carr sent to Baffin's Bay yet?"

"No, but if he follows the Potter routine he may do so any minute."

"Why was Sen. Potter in such a hurry to hand down an opinion, Dad?"

"Maybe he thought he was still on TV and that he was limited to those ten-minute periods."

"Popper, it seems to me that everybody on the committee wants to put omebody else on the committee in a bad light. Nobody on it mentions Dr. Peress any more. I haven't heard them refer to Fort Monmouth in two weeks. Why are they now jumping on Ray Jenkins, their own counsel?"

"This is the season for the jumping events, my son. There are senators on that committee who will jump on anybody except commies, it sometimes seems, my son. But it is all very complicated. You had better run out and play."

"But what did Jenkins do to get jumped on Popper?"

"He made the mistake of being one hundred per cent honest and very candid on Meet the Press in answering a hypothetical question instead of making the standard counter crack, 'That's like asking me when I stopped beating my wife.' Anybody who does that in Washington is in for trouble."

"What is all this about Struve Hensel wanting a return bout or something, Popper?"

"All I know is what I saw on TV, my son. And in all my life I never saw a counsel in such a hurry to get a client off the hook as Mr. Hensel's lawyer was on May 26th. He was so emphatic and so vociferous in Mr. Hensel's right to have everything dropped that he seemed full of atomic energy. It was one of the high-speed moments of the TV show."

Strike Ties Up Stark County Building Work

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—One thousand AFL laborers struck today in a dispute which union officials said would halt all construction in the Canton and Massillon area.

The laborers, with 600 members here and 400 in Massillon, walked out over demands for a 15-cent pay raise and immediately set up pickets.

AFL leaders said the lines would be respected by all other construction workers in the union. The union estimated the number of these at 2,000, but contractors set the figure at about 1,500.

Bricklayers, who also want a 15-cent boost, quit last week but did not post pickets. The laborers now make $2.07 an hour and the bricklayers $3.20.

So far, the construction council representing the contractors has refused to offer a pay increase.

Glynn Leads Tribe's 11-Run Uprising, Credits Lopez

Skipper's Discovery Leads To Surge, Indian Ace Says

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland first baseman Bill Glynn credits a lot of extra batting practice and a helpful tip on balance from his manager for the new home-run power that makes him "feel like a hitter now"

The 28-year-old Franklin, N J lead-off man started an 11-run Tribe rally in the first inning of last night's 11-3 victory over Baltimore by hammering a Joe Coleman pitch more than 400 feet to clear the right-center field fence He also hit two singles in his four times up, driving home two more runs

Monday in Detroit Glynn whacked three home runs in three tries off three different pitchers—Ralph Branca Ted Gray and Dick Weik The first round-tripper was Glynn's initial grand-slam swat, and it carried into the upper right field deck

"Hitting one upstairs like that gave me a big lift," said Glynn, whose team mates currently call him "Babe" instead of the usual "McPug"

"I feel like a hitter now

"A tip Al Lopez gave me just before I hit that first one in Detroit probably is the answer, Al said he noticed I'd been lunging at the ball—shifting my weight (195 pounds) too soon He showed me what I'd been doing. Next time up I followed his advice and hit that first homer"

Lopez didn't want any credit, saying:

"Sure, I saw something and told him about it, but he's the guy doing the hitting I hope he keeps it up"

"Amen," was Glynn's rejoinder.

During the current home stand, Glynn said, he has "taken a lot of extra batting practice," adding, "Red Kress was out there throwing to us almost every day"

Easily the fanciest fielder the Tribe has had at first base in years, Glynn was benched most of the time from April 25 until last Friday because he's regarded as a light hitter

He played eight games with the Philadelphia Phils in 1949 and joined the Indians midway in the 1952 season. In 199 major league games prior to this season, Glynn's batting average was only 247 and he had hit only five home runs.

Actually, Glynn was hitting 419 when Lopez shifted Al Rosen from third to first in April to give rookie Rudy Regalado a try at third Even after Rosen returned across the diamond, Vic Wertz started two games at first before Glynn got his chance

His average, which had fallen to 267 during his period of infrequent play, has jumped to 312, and with his newfound long-ball hitting, he may end a long search Cleveland has made for a first baseman

The 11-run outburst in last night's first inning, with Glynn batting in three runs on a homer and single, marked a new high for one-inning scoring in the league this year The New York Giants scored 11 against Pittsburgh in the National League last May 25, and the Indians themselves hold the all-time American League record set in 1950 against Philadelphia

Sixteen batters came up in the big round, and there were five runs home—three on a triple by Wally Westlake—before Coleman was removed and Mike Blyzka took over the Orioles' pitching Three more runs scored before Bob Avila flied for the first out

Early Wynn, winning his 10th

SHORT SPORTS
By John Short

Chicago's Paul Richards probably is still shuddering at the mere mention of Larry Doby's name The Tribe's centerfield ace, who allegedly can't hit under presure, a 1 l but cuttled the pennant hopes of the Chisox last weekend and the "go-go" boys have just about gone

SHORT

Doby's big bat combined with some top-flight pitching performances more than filled the gap created by the slumps of Al Rosen and George Strickland In each of the first three games with Chicago, Doby blasts into the rightfield stands either tied the score or put the Tribe into the lead He served notice in the opening game with a homer to knot the count and later drove in the winning marker with a single

The runnerup Sox were still confident Friday night when they took the field for the nightcap but a three-run swat by Doby and Early Wynn's mound work dropped them behind the Yanks For the rest of the series, Richards' charges looked to be anything but pennant contenders

Cleveland's pitching has definitely improved with the addition of the new bullpen strength. Ray Narleski, Dom Mossi and Hal Newhouser have allowed Lopez to forget Bob Hooper, Dave Hoskins and the Big Three for relief roles

Despite the mound crew's performance, highlight of the Cleveland sweep was the play of Al Smith, Doby and Dave Philley in the outfield Playing in a series where one mistake would have cost a verdict, the trio came through with several unbelievable catches

During the last couple of seasons Lou Boudreau has scattered superlatives around about such low-hitting performers as Bill Consolo, Ted Lepcio and Milt Bolling Cleveland fans are beginning to believe those phrases were coined to describe Philley. And don't be surprised if Philley breaks out on a rampage of his own before the season ends His 303 last year proves him to be better than a 205 hitter.

And who said Billy Glynn could not hit major league pitching?

Isaly Dairy clinched the American League pennant in Little League action last night at Robert Scott Field

The Dairymen blanked Marion County Bank 16-0 for their 11th victory in 13 starts to capture the crown All other American League clubs have lost eight games and are six games behind the leaders with only five to go

Bank 6-5 in the other contet

Goodyear edged National City Bank 6-5 in the other contest

Gene Dulin went the route for Isaly, spinning a two-hitter for his fifth success without a setback The game went only four innings due to the league 10-run rule.

Dulin struck out eight in his short stint while walking four Dave Riner, the Bankers' leadoff batter touched him for a single opening the first and Billy Wolfe singled in the third for the only Bank hits

Meanwhile, Isaly was scoring twice in the opening frame without benefit of a hit 10 runs in the third on six hits and four more runs in the fourth on three hits to make Dulin's hurling chores easier Jack Moore, the County Bank starter, absorbed the loss, his third against the same number of wins

A run on two hits in the bottom of the seventh enabled Goodyear to edge City Bank in the opener

John Romano drove in the winning run following a pair of walks and another single by John Gilbert Goodyear had scored three in the second on a pair of hits and once in the third and fifth frames without benefit of a base hit

The Bankers led off with a run in the first on two hits, then added two in the third on three hits and two more in the fifth on the same number of hits

Goodyear netted only five hits off a pair of National City Bank hurlers but still managed to win

Staley Hurls 6-0 Shutout Over Cincy

ST LOUIS (AP)—The St Louis Cardinals combined seven hits with three Cincinnati Red errors for a 6-0 shutout victory last night behind the pitching of Gerry Staley

The Reds will attempt to get back the game from the sixth-place Cards tonight using left-hander Fred Baczewski against either Harvey Haddix or Brooks Lawrence

Staley scattered nine hits including two doubles and a single off the bat of Ted Kluszewski, for his fifth win in 12 decisions He struck out two men and gave up no walks

The loss stopped the Cincinnati win streak at four and dropped the squad 1½ games behind the fourth place Milwaukee Braves

For hard-luck Harry Perkowski it was the seventh defeat against a solitary victory

Red Schoendienst started the trouble with a double to left Stan Musial followed with a single and on a bobble by Wally Post continued to second Ray Jablonski singled to right When Rip Repulski grounded to Bobby Adams Musial was tagged out at home Jablonski scored on a groundout Kluszewski threw over Adams' head as Repulski was taking third and Rip got home on the error

Perkowski walked two men in the fifth and the free-riders came home on singles by Musial and Jablonski Temples throw to catcher Hobie Landrith was wide of the mark and enabled Musial to score this time

County Fish, Game Association Honors Neimeyer

Representative of State Department Praises Conservation Plan

About 50 members of the Marion County Fish and Game Association last night paid tribute to O. H. Neimeyer, retired game protector from Marion County.

During the meeting, a plaque was presented Neimeyer in appreciation of his services. A. W. Saort, supervisor of conservation education in the state department of education, was speaker. He praised the work done by Neimeyer, saying he was one of the few men he knew who devoted himself completely to the honest performance of his duties.

SHORT SAID the retired protector was about 25 years ahead of his time in thinking. He said the work done by Neimeyer would still make its influence felt in Marion County when the present generation's grandchildren are born.

One of the most important contributions Neimeyer made, Short reported, was the work done with young persons of the County. He said Neimeyer has done much toward making the children of the county look on the game protector as a man to be admired and loved rather than feared.

Short also praised Neimeyer for his devotion to duty after working hours were over. If Ollie had claimed half as much overtime pay as was due him, he would be worth plenty of money now," Short said.

No one will ever take Neimeyer's place, in the words of Short. He asked the group to give the same cooperation to John Waters, new protector, as it has to Neimeyer. Waters is a capable man who has had valuable experience in conservation work, Short said, adding that with the right kind of help, he could do a job comparable to that performed by Neimeyer.

A LETTER was read by Richard Leonard, club president, expressing the congratulations of Gov. Frank Lausche for the honest and faithful job Neimeyer has performed as game protector.

Following the presentation, Neimeyer promised he would continue to help in conservation work wherever he could. He said the help and cooperation he received during his stay in office had made his work possible. He called Marion County the finest community in Ohio and called upon members of the Fish and Game Association to continue to strive to build the area.

He said the group is one of the finest "active" organizations in the state and asked it to continue the work.

TRIBUTE WAS PAID to O. H. Neimeyer, retired Marion County game protector, last night at the monthly meeting of the Marion County Fish and Game Association. Shown here are A. W. Short, supervisor of conservation education of the state department of education and main speaker of the evening; Neimeyer; Carl H. Lehner, past president of the organization who presented a plaque of appreciation; and Richard Leonard, president of the group.

Brooklyn Falls 5-2

Giant Homers Sink Dodgers, Leaders Stretch NL Margin

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

One series, any major league manager will tell you, does not make a season, so why get so excited about the current set between the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers?

But going into tonight's second game of the three-game series, the Giants were 4½ games in front of the Brooks and if they go on to sweep the series, Walter Alston and his team will be up against a mighty tough problem in their quest for a third straight pennant.

Consider the Brooks' plight:

1. The pitching has been wobbly and, worse, only Bob Milliken among the relievers has been effective.

2. Their pinch hitters have been futile. In last night's 5-2 setback by the Giants, they loaded the bases with none out in the ninth only to have George Shuba and Rube Walker, two pinch hitters, go down ignominiously.

2. They can't seem to shake the injury jinx. Pee Wee Reese, Duke Snider, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson among the first-liners have been having miseries.

The Giants, on the other hand, are sitting pretty. They have confidence. They've had fantastic good fortune with pinch hitters. When they're behind, they don't worry. With relief pitchers like Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom, who took over for Sal Maglie against the Brooks last night in the ninth with none out and three men on base and got away unscathed, they have two firemen they can trust.

Al Dark, Willie Mays and Monte Irvin hit home runs last night, accounting for four of the Giants' runs. Starter Preacher Roe was the victim of two and Bob Milliken, one. Maglie weathered a two-run first inning, then settled down until he ran into trouble again in the ninth and required the services of Grissom to pull it out.

Two other National League games produced shutouts. Gerry Staley blanked the Cincinnati Redlegs for the St. Louis Cardinals 6-0, and Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies whitewashed the Pitsburgh Pirates 3-0. In the other National League encounter, the Milwaukee Braves bombed the Chicago Cubs 14-3.

The Cleveland Indians held their 3½-game lead over the New York Yankees in the American League. The Tribe plastered the Baltimore Orioles 11-3 and the Yanks turned back the Boston Red Sox 4-1.

Virgil Trucks, the veteran right-hander of the Chicago White Sox, pitched his second one-hitter of the season as his injury-riddled mates whipped the Detroit Tigers 4-0. Johnny Schmitz of the Washington Senators also was stingy with the base hits, allowing the Philadelphia A's only half a dozen as the Nats hung a 5-2 defeat on Eddie Joost's men.

Simmons, who has had indifferent success during the first half of the season, was hit hard, but had good support to win No. 8 against six losses.

The in-and-out Braves scored 11 runs in the first three innings in handing the Cubs their fourth straight licking. Gene Conley had no trouble coasting to his seventh straight victory.

Frank Sullivan, the 6-foot-7 Red Sox rookie right-hander, hurled creditably until the eighth when the Yanks scored twice. Their first two runs were the result of homers by Joe Collins and Andy Carey. Whitey Ford got the triumph.

Trucks' one-hitter was his 11th victory, but his club is six games off the pace and with its rash of injuries — 19 members of the team have been forced from the lineup this season — is beginning to show the wear and tear of the grind.

Only Harvey Kuenn's single in the third inning kept Trucks from recording the third no-hitter of his career.

against six losses, gave no hits until the eighth. Then, with one out and Clint Courtney on base on a walk, Jim Brideweser tripled. The blow did not stand alone as a spoiler, for in the next inning Bob Kenendy, Gil Coan, Courtney and Bobby Young rapped consecutive singles to bring home two more Baltimore runs.
